

Death, Destruction Lie in Wake of California Quake

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Authorities kept a wary eye on a cracked reservoir dam and probed wreckage of a ruined hospital for bodies today in the wake of an earthquake that dealt death and destruction to Southern California.

Forty deaths were reported, nine of them heart attack victims. More than 1,000 persons were reported injured.

Officials said 15 persons were missing, some buried in the rubble of two collapsed buildings at a Veterans Administration hospital in the hard-hit west end of the populous San Fernando Valley.

25 Bodies

Twenty-five bodies had been found in the hospital wreckage—two of them just after dawn today—and 55 rescued.

So heavy and so interlocked were huge chunks of concrete from the virtually leveled three-story structures that rescuers said it might be another day or more before all victims could be reached.

Although cries of "Help me! Help me!" could be heard Tuesday night, authorities said there was little likelihood of more survivors being found. The bodies of five persons were extricated in the night and early morning hours.

The shock at 6:01 a.m. Tuesday was centered 26 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles, crumpled much of the concrete facing on the 150-foot-high dam of Van Norman Lake, the city's largest reservoir, and cracked its main structure of earth fill.

As water experts began draining it, police ordered an evacuation Tuesday night of some 80,000 persons in a 20-square-mile area of the San Fernando Valley which would be in the path of flood waters should the dam break. Officials said that barring a strong new aftershock, it should hold.

Aftershocks

The initial shock and lesser aftershocks caused damage likely to be reckoned ultimately in the hundreds of millions. Hundreds of commercial buildings and factories were damaged, along with uncounted homes, highways, bridges and public buildings. Los Angeles County estimated loss to its buildings alone of $125 million, with 427 damaged structurally and 42 evacuated.

Gov. Ronald Reagan surveyed the damage and said, "It's shocking. When you look at this you feel pretty helpless."

Robert E. Noel, a custodian at the threatened reservoir dam, was at his home near the base of the structure when the quake hit.

"It was thumpin' and jumpin' and knocked everything out of our kitchen," he said. "It didn't matter where I put my feet, the floor wasn't there."

20-Mile Area Near Dam Is Evacuated

GRANADA HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A 20-square-mile area where 80,000 persons live in the suburban San Fernando Valley was under evacuation order today because police feared a potential disaster from an earthquake-damaged earthen foothill dam.

Nestled on a slope covered with trees and brush and overlooking a vast section of middle- and upper-middle-class Los Angeles homes, the Van Norman Dam showed two cracks 20 feet long and 18 inches wide.

An earthquake Tuesday caused half of a 3,000-foot concrete apron to slip into one of the dam's twin reservoirs.

Police Chief Edward Davis ordered evacuation although the city water and power department, which operates the dam, said there would be no leakage unless there was another earthquake.

Under Orders

"I have issued an order to my men to not save anyone who doesn't want to be saved," Davis said.

Police in patrol cars, using bullhorns, sped through the area telling residents to leave.

Some valley dwellers spent the night at evacuation centers set up at three high schools. Others stayed with friends.

Only street lights burned in the evacuated, sealed-off area.

Officials said they would have the dam drained to a safe level by tonight. Pumps were used to discharge water into Bull Creek, eventually feeding the valuable drinking water into the Pacific Ocean.

Dam Spill

When the earthquake struck there was 3.6 billion gallons of water in the larger of the reservoirs. On Dec. 14, 1963, a break in the Baldwin Hills Dam 20 miles south of the valley spilled about 2.3 billion gallons of water, killing five persons and destroying 64 homes.

"I don't think there's any cause for concern at this time," said a Water and Power Department executive, John Cowan. "We're in good shape as long as there's not another quake."

Most of the lowlands homes nearest the dam cost $40,000 and up, a city official said. They are in the bedroom communities of Granada Hills, Northridge, Mission Hills, Reseda, Canoga Park and Van Nuys.

Robert Noel, a dam custodian whose home is at the base of the reservoir, declined to evacuate his family. "If it hasn't busted yet, I don't think it will," Noel said.

Officials estimated damage to the 60-year-old dam at $12.2 million.

Some Survived Under Rubble of Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Giant cranes and bulldozers pushed through the rubble of concrete, bricks, stucco and glass at the Veterans Administration hospital in suburban Sylmar.

Workers using sledge hammers and power saws came upon a patient in bed partly covered by tons of masonry.

"No sense getting him out," yelled a doctor. "Get someone that's alive."

Two three-story Spanish-style buildings at the 400-patient hospital collapsed Tuesday during an earthquake. Three miles away the 850-bed Olive View Hospital, completed last October at a cost of $23.5 million and dedicated last month, was turned into a hill of cement and glass.

Rescuers said they felt air coming from pockets in the rubble nearly 24 hours after the buildings collapsed. They said this gave them hope that some trapped persons could remain alive.

One elderly man was rescued in good condition after being trapped in bed 14 hours. Asked whether he was hurt, the man replied, "Yes, my back hurts. But it's hurt since World War II."

Throughout the night, under the glare of generator-powered floodlights, workers looked for other bodies.

Recovered Bodies

"It's my mother!" screamed Sharon Schropp, 18. "She's in there! She's in there!" Three hours later her mother was saved.

Before ambulances could reach the scene on damaged roads, bodies covered with white sheets were laid out on the green lawn under pine trees.

The Rev. William McHugh, who administered last rites to some of the dead, watched the hundreds of workers looking for the missing. "Once in a while

Shepard, Mitchell, Roosa Aboard Ship

Home Safe After 'Perfect' Mission

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Apollo 14's moon heroes, healthy and snug in a quarantine trailer, steamed aboard this carrier toward Samoa today after safely completing man's third lunar landing mission.

From Samoa they'll be flown to the Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston, arriving early Friday. They'll get a glimpse of their families, then continue their isolation against possible moon germs until Feb. 26.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa parachuted to a precision landing in the South Pacific Tuesday, climaxing a lunar voyage which scientists say will greatly enrich man's knowledge of the moon and space agency officials hail as perfect.

The spacemen hit the gentle tropic waters less than four miles from this helicopter carrier and quickly were hoisted aboard by helicopter. They were just seven-tenths of a mile from the landing target.

Band Played

Hundreds of white-clad sailors cheered and snapped pictures. "Welcome Apollo 14" banners unfurled and a band played "Stars and Stripes Forever" as the three smiling spacemen walked smartly from the copter to the quarantine trailer.

On the remote possibility that they returned harmful germs from the moon, Shepard, Mitchell and Roosa wore protective masks that prevented their exhaling into the surrounding atmosphere.

Dr. William Carpenter, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration flight surgeon who is in the quarantine with them, reported that a preliminary medical examination showed them all to be in good health.

NASA Engineers

Also in the trailer is R. H. Culbertson, a NASA engineer who maintains the van systems and helps with cooking and other chores.

After retrieving the astronauts, the New Orleans set sail for Samoa, 200 miles to the north. When the ship is in helicopter range, about noon EST Thursday, the spacemen will be flown to Pago Pago, where they'll transfer into a quarantine van aboard an Air Force transport plane.

The aircraft will ferry them to Houston's Ellington Air Force Base, arriving at 1:30 a.m. Friday. They will go to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the Manned Spacecraft Center to complete the 21-day quarantine period that began the day Shepard and Mitchell left the moon.

The lunar rocks they gathered in the ancient Fra Mauro highlands will go into another section of the laboratory, where scientists eagerly wait to start examination that will take months or years.

Primordial Rocks

Scientists believe the moon walkers may have gathered primordial rocks dating back 4.6 billion years to the creation of the moon.

Scientists hope study of these rocks will unlock many secrets of the birth pangs of the moon, of the earth and solar system. All were believed created at the same time in the convulsive coming together of space dust and rocks in a mammoth gas cloud.

Rocks collected in 1969 by the Apollo 11 and 12 crews came from relatively flat and young mare areas and range in age from 3.2 billion to 3.7 billion years. They have revealed some things that happened after the moon was a billion or so years old.

Following the successful splashdown, Shepard, Mitchell and Roosa received the praise by the time they arrived.

of President Nixon and space agency officials.

"We're just so proud and happy to have you all back," the President told them by radio-telephone from Washington. He invited them and their wives to dinner at the White House and urged them to bring their families.

Kentucky Fire

Takes Five Lives

CRAB ORCHARD, Ky. (AP) — Five persons, including two invalids, died today when a fire destroyed their rural home near here.

Authorities said another seven persons escaped the blaze.

The victims were identified as Jane Hampton, a 65-year-old widow, her two invalid children, George Hampton, 24, and Ruby Hampton, 36, and two cousins, Sarah Treadway, 55, and Rosie Treadway, 16.

Another son, Buddy Hampton, his wife Loretta, and their three children, ranging in age from 2 to 7, escaped the fire as did two visitors at the home, James Treadway and Jimmy Brown.

Fire departments from Lincoln County and Crab Orchard said the home was a total loss by the time they arrived.

ties for a weekend at the Camp David presidential retreat in the Maryland mountains.

"Give Us Hope"

Nixon told 47-year-old Shepard, who made America's first manned space flight a decade ago, "You give all of us older fellows hope."

Shepard became the first lunar golfer when he hit three golf balls on the moon with a makeshift club. Nixon jokingly said he had talked with professional golfer Arnold Palmer about placing Shepard on the tour.

At a news conference in Houston, Dr. George Low, acting administrator of NASA, said the success was especially gratifying because it wiped out the scars of the near-disaster of Apollo 13 last April when an oxygen tank explosion forced an abort near the moon.

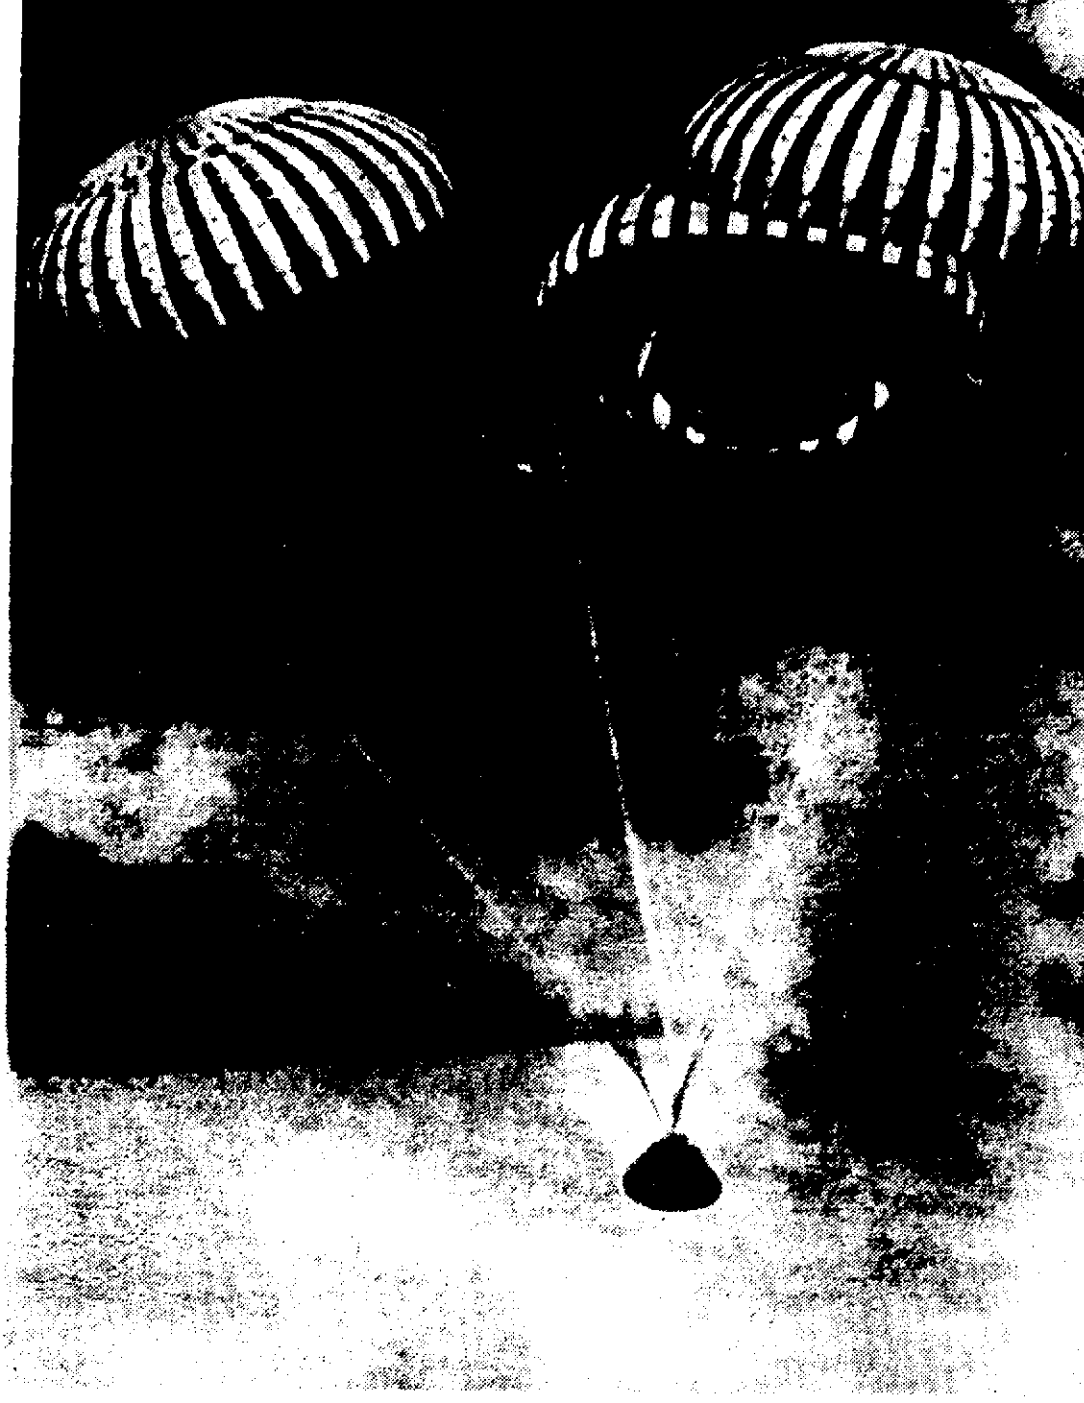

Apollo 14 carried out Apollo 13's mission, which was to gather pristine rocks at Fra Mauro.

"On the first Mercury flight in 1961, Alan Shepard tested man's reaction to the space environment," Low said. "On Apollo 14, just 10 years later, Alan Shepard and his crew demonstrated that man belongs in space, that man can achieve objectives well beyond the capabilities of any machines that has yet been devised."

Fire departments from Lincoln County and Crab Orchard said the home was a total loss by the time they arrived.

Last Mission Will Center On Birth of Solar System

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A crash program to unveil the mysteries of the birth of the solar system has been mapped out for Apollo astronauts flying the last three missions to the moon.

When Apollo 17 blasts off from the lunar surface in 1972, lunar exploration will cease for at least a decade, says Dr. George Low, acting administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

So time is short, he says, and after the rewarding flight of Apollo 14, science's demand for more knowledge is urgent.

The prospects are "very exciting" that in the Apollo 14 command ship when it splashed down in the Pacific Ocean Tuesday were rocks and dust nearly five billion years old, said Dale Myers, assistant administrator of the manned spaceflight program.

after Apollo will be Skylab, a three-man, earth-orbiting station. Three crews will man the laboratory for periods of up to 56 days in 1972 and 1973. Their scientific, engineering and medical experiments will set guidelines for further long-term space stations.

After Skylab, there will be a four-year gap in U.S. manned space flights.

NASA had hoped to have a 6-to-12-man station in earth orbit by 1975, servicing it with a reusable shuttle craft that would fly between earth and the lab somewhat like an airplane. Budget cuts, however, ended hope of flying the shuttle before 1978.

Will the long delay enable the Soviet Union to push ahead of the United States in space?

"Russia is moving rapidly," Myers said, "moving to pass us in some areas now. They have nothing like our manned program, but I expect in the next two to three years we will see some very major manned activity on the part of Russia such as a large space station."

"If we're properly supported by Congress, our shuttle could get into the air as a test vehicle in the atmosphere by 1976," Myers added. "But it will not be carrying men into space before 1978."

"I have difficulty understanding how this country can accept that, but that seems to be the way it's going at the moment."

Moon Rocks Go to Museum, But Ex-Governor Says They Are His

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Still claiming they were his, former New Mexico Gov. David F. Cargo has presented some Apollo 11 moon fragments to the Museum of New Mexico.

The lunar particles were locked in the museum's vault.

"With all the pressure, I think it's a good place for them," said Dr. George Ewing of the museum's anthropology division.

The moon rocks were the focus of a clash between Cargo and Gov. Bruce King.

Democrat King, who took office Jan. 1, said Republican Cargo stripped his office when he left and questioned the propriety of his predecessor taking the moon rocks. King said the rocks had been presented to the people of New Mexico and not the governor.

Cargo responded at the time that the rocks "were presented to me, not him. I can do whatever I want to with them. The President gave them to me. If I want to give them to the museum, I damned well can."

However, Ewing said that a check with White House records showed that a plaque with the rocks reads: "Presented to the people of the State of New Mexico—Richard Nixon, President of the United States of America."

Tuesday's presentation of the lunar particles to the museum was attended by about 50 persons.

Eban Urges New Look at Proposals on Suez Canal

TEL AVIV (AP) — Foreign Minister Abba Eban urged Egypt today to "take a more mature, careful look" at Premier Golda Meir's proposals concerning the Suez Canal before rejecting them.

"The Egyptian government is now in a position as a result of recent Israeli initiatives to move the situation positively forward," Eban told a news conference in Jerusalem.

He said Cargo had acted "precipitately" in asserting that Mrs. Meir had rejected Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's suggestions on opening the Suez Canal.

Egyptian spokesman Mahmoud Hafez had described Mrs. Meir's statement Tuesday as a "turndown of Sadat's demand last week for a partial pullback of Israeli forces along the canal."

At the same time, the Cairo spokesman brushed aside Mrs. Meir's counter proposal that Israel and Egypt agree to a mutual reduction of their armed forces along the waterway. He called the suggestion a "maneuver aimed at escaping the blame of world public opinion."

Many observers in Israel view Mrs. Meir's de-escalation suggestion as an attempt to meet halfway Egypt's demand for a partial Israeli pullback, prior to reopening the canal.

Eban went to considerable length to explain Mrs. Meir's speech in which she invited Arab infiltrators from Syria Tuesday night in a gunfight on the occupied Golan Heights, the Israeli military command said.

A spokesman said there were no Israeli casualties.

The Israeli command also announced the capture recently of 45 Arab guerrillas who it said were part of "a widespread Al Fatah sabotage network" operating around Hebron, in occupied territory south of Jerusalem.

A spokesman said the guerrillas are accused of committing 19 acts of terrorism in the past 18 months, including an attack on Jerusalem with two Katyusha rockets in December. A house was damaged in the attack but there were no casualties.

The Israeli army announced that it is prosecuting an officer and 10 soldiers on charges of unprovoked rough treatment of Arab residents in the occupied Gaza Strip.

A spokesman for the military command said three other officers, two of them of high but unspecified rank, had received administrative reprimands for ordering that civilians be roughed up or for failing to keep their men under control.

The charges stem from an investigation ordered by Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, the chief of staff, following a number of complaints by Gaza Arabs.

Defendant Admits Killing Sharon Tate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Susan Atkins, in a dramatic witness stand confession, has declared it was she who stabbed actress Sharon Tate and used the victim's blood to scrawl the word "pig" on a door during a nightmarish mass slaughter.

"I killed her, I stabbed her and she fell," Miss Atkins said. "And I stabbed her again. I don't know how many times I stabbed her and I don't know why I stabbed her."

Dark-haired Miss Atkins, 22, her voice husky and sometimes fearful, told jurors Tuesday that members of Charles Manson's hippie-style clan—two of them "stoned" on drugs—stabbed and shot the pregnant Miss Tate and four visitors.

She also said she was the killer of a Malibu musician the previous month.

"I didn't even know these people," she signed incredulously as she vividly recounted the killings at the Tate mansion.

"She kept pleading with me. 'Please don't kill me.' And I said, 'Shut up. I don't want to hear it.'"

"I threw her down on the couch. She said, 'All I want to do is have my baby.'"

"Tex came in and looked down at her and said, 'Kill her,' and I killed her."

Charles "Tex" Watson, a member of Manson's clan, was described by another witness at the murder trial as Manson's chief lieutenant in two murder missions—to Miss Tate's hilltop mansion the night of Aug. 9, 1969 and to the home of market owner Leno LaBianca and his wife the next night.

Separate Trial
Watson is to stand trial separately.

Miss Atkins, the first defendant to take the stand in the nearly eight-month trial, told her story at the penalty phase in which the jury must decide on life imprisonment or death for the convicted clan leader and three women codefendants, of whom she is one.

She told the jury:

"She was under the influence of LSD and Watson was on the drug STP at the time of the slayings."

"The state's star witness, Linda Kasabian, was the true planner of the killings, choosing the Tate home because she had tried to buy drugs there once and was 'burned' by people who took her money."

Manson Threatened
—Miss Atkins—not convicted Robert Beausoleil, 22—killed musician Gary Hinman a few weeks before the Tate slayings.

She said "I did it for love" because Hinman had threatened Manson.

—Defendant Leslie Van Houten, 21, went along on the Hinman killing and later went on the LaBianca mission.

Miss Atkins said the motive for the Tate-LaBianca slayings was to confuse police, who had Beausoleil in custody. To do this, she said, the group copied the style of the Hinman killing, marked by bloody wall scrawlings.

"I want to remember it all," Miss Atkins whispered staring ahead wide-eyed as if reliving the night of horror.

Stephen Parent

She told of a car trip into the hills, with Mrs. Kasabian at the wheel, then a climb over a fence into the rambling Tate estate. In the driveway, she said, Watson spotted a car coming and shot the driver, Stephen Parent, 18, who had been visiting the caretaker.

"Tex went crazy," she said. "I heard a gun go off four times before we even went into the house. He just went off. I don't know what made him do it. He just went crazy."

At the height of the frenzy later inside the house, she related, "Tex said 'turn out the lights,' and I turned out the lights. The people were crying and one said, 'Please don't hurt me.'"

Suddenly, one victim, Wojciech Frykowski, who had been tied up, got loose, she said, and began fighting with her. "He kept pulling at my hair and I was fighting like I was fighting for my life. I kept swinging my knife, and my knife kept going into something."

Wrote in Blood
Miss Atkins said she later picked up a towel and walked over to Miss Tate's bloody body. "I looked at her stomach and then I touched her stomach with the towel and I walked to the door and I wrote 'pig' on the door," she said.

On the second night, she said, Mrs. Kasabian directed the group on a trip to the LaBianca home.

Miss Atkins said she did not enter the house, but left in the car after dropping off Watson, Patricia Krenwinkel and Leslie Van Houten, the other two later convicted. She said she, Mrs. Kasabian and another clan member, Steve Grogan, then went walking on the beach.

Loved Manson
Miss Atkins said she was in love with Manson from the day she met him in a San Francisco hippie commune. She said she killed Hinman because he threatened Manson with a gun. Hinman, she said, had refused to give Manson money and his car.

She sobbed, "I had no choice. He was going to hurt Charlie. He was going to hurt my love, I had to protect it."

"I don't know what I did, all I know is the next thing I knew I had a knife in Gary and he was yelling. I think I picked up the gun and hit him on the top of the head."

It all disturbed her, she said, because "I'm not used to violence at all."

Insurance for Earthquakes A Rarity Among Californians

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thousands of Southern Californians face big bills for repairing or replacing homes wrenched and shaken in the earthquake.

But almost none has earthquake insurance, even though 90 per cent of the nation's quakes occur in California.

Kenneth H. Klee, president of the Insurance Brokers of California, said only about one in 10,000 homeowners finds such coverage worthwhile.

The reason, he explained, is that earthquake protection normally costs twice as much as even write quake insurance on other house insurance and most old structures which do not policies contain a 5 per cent deductible clause.

This means, he said, that on a Long Beach earthquake, Klee

... would not cover damage up to $1,500. In the typical case of cracked plaster and loosened brick, the homeowner would get nothing from his insurance company.

The same drawback applies to insuring commercial buildings, Klee said. In this case the deductible amount is 10 per cent.

The annual premium for fire insurance on a $300,000 superstore in Pasadena is about $400. Earthquake protection is $1,300, he said.

Brokers familiar with Southern California usually will not even write quake insurance on other house insurance and most old structures which do not policies contain a 5 per cent deductible clause.

Auto License Fee Hike Rejected

MADISON (AP) — A legislative study committee changed its mind Tuesday about recommending an increase in vehicle license fees to help provide subsidies for financially troubled mass transit systems.

Sen. James Devitt, R-Greenfield, a former truck company operator, said he did not think it proper that motorists should help pay for buses. Three other Republicans voted with him to reject the hike.

The Mass Transit Subcommittee had voted earlier in favor of a bill which would raise the state's $18.15 car license fee to $24 a year. It voted 4-3 Tuesday to rescind the action.

The subcommittee also reversed its approval of a proposed increase to $31 of the car dealer's fee of $25 a plate.

More Revenue

The measure now goes to the Highway Advisory Committee. It would raise an estimated $12 million extra revenue annually, half of it being used to subsidize bus companies and the balance being distributed as road aid.

The Wisconsin Automotive Trades Association and truck company representatives had opposed the increases. Sen. Cassimir Kendzioriski, D-Milwaukee, said the committee's change of heart was influenced by pressure from lobbyists.

"If I were honest, I would say we have failed," he remarked.

Kendzioriski added he may yet propose the increases in an amendment should the bill reach the floor of the legislature.

Favor Increase

Voting for the increase were Kendzioriski, and citizen members Kenneth Heinz of Neenah and Ervin Ryzek of Milwaukee.

Voting against it were Devitt, Rep. Bernard Lewison, R-Viroqua, Rep. Earl McEsey, R-Fond du Lac, and Rep. Jerome Quinn, R-Green Bay.

Committee members said subsidy of mass transit should come from the general fund rather than from license fees.

Endorsing that idea were Devitt, Quinn, Heinz and Ryzek. Opposing it were Kendzioriski, Lewison and McEsey.

Kendzioriski said it seems unlikely the legislature would agree to using general funds for the subsidy. Devitt said public buses represent a social problem.

Auto registration fee rates, Kendzioriski added, should be geared to the cubic-inch displacement in an engine, with bigger cars having to pay more.

Union Shop Bill Would Eliminate Voting Provision

MADISON (AP) — The Assembly's Labor Committee heard a proposal Tuesday that would allow employees of a union to enter into union shop agreement without first voting in referendum.

Co-authored by Democrats William Johnson of Milwaukee and Joseph Looby of Eau Claire, the amendment would repeal a law that requires an affirmative vote by two-thirds of employees in a collective bargaining unit.

When introduced Tuesday, Republican Rep. James Azim of Muscoda objected on procedural grounds.

Azim noted that a bill submitted by the same sponsors Feb. 2, calling for a union shop agreement by a majority vote only, still had not been considered by the committee.

Strengthen Bill

Johnson, the committee chairman, told Azim the amendment would supersede the bill.

Containing "the amendment is much stronger than the bill," Rep. Manny Brown, D-Racine, said it would "promote industrial democracy" as well as "repeal an anachronism."

But Oscar Christianson, representing the Wisconsin Creameries Association, said: "That isn't democracy. It's small-group dictatorship."

"It's the first time we've had to give away a little human rights to save the taxpayers some money," he added.

Other committee business include presentation of a bill by Rep. Lloyd Barbee, D-Milwaukee, to exempt wages from garnishment actions.

Barbee said there have been many abuses by creditors, including discrimination against wage-earners and favoritism toward those who are financially more secure.

Barbee said the state is being used "not only as a collection from poor people."

"I'm not interested in continuing letting the wolves run wild," Barbee said.

Opposition to the bill was provided by J. T. Petska, secretary of the Milwaukee County Property Owners Association.

Petska said garnishment action is an example of "humane treatment" toward debtors, citing the historical alternative of sending them to prison.

"Liberties, liberties, liberties!" Petska said. "We can't go on giving liberties to people or the country will go to the dogs."

"Failure to pay your debt is a form of theft," he argued.

Referring to protection of property owners, Petska declared "The garnishment law is the only law which keeps us in business."

Responding to a question by Azim, Petska said his organization was a non-profit body.

Sewer Extension Curb Supported

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Natural Resources board Tuesday adopted a rule proposed by its environmental protection division that will have the effect of halting sanitary sewer extensions in communities where municipal sewage treatment and disposal facilities are insufficient to accommodate increased loads.

But the board showed resistance to the desire of the division to use its powers to order sewer connections between municipalities as a means of encouraging the regional concept of sewage collection and treatment and pollution control.

Upon the motion of John Potter of Wisconsin Rapids, first chairman of the policymaking group, the board "temporarily" deferred a request of its environmental division staff to oppose a legislative proposal that would repeal the existing power of the Department of Natural Resources to order cooperative municipal sewage services.

Support League

Thus the board appeared to be showing support for the position of the League of Wisconsin municipalities and its member cities that encourage inter-community sewage systems will provide an additional barrier to the annexation of suburban neighborhoods by parent cities.

The board declined to oppose the pending bill in spite of the interim committee on municipal problems would assure time for the environmental protection annexation proceedings in division, that it "will strip away the little authority we now have to encourage regional systems."

State Suspend Bridge Planning For Green Bay

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Planning for the proposed Mason Street Bridge in Green Bay has been suspended indefinitely, pending the outcome of a Brown County referendum on financing the structure, according to W. R. Redmond, chairman of the State Highway Commission.

Redmond said that the engineering consultants for the bridge, Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff, were advised to suspend operations on the project as of last Friday, and not to resume until specifically directed by the commission to do so.

"We have shut the project down," Redmond said until the financing question is resolved.

The plans and specifications for the first substructure are completed, Redmond said and would have been ready for bidding planned for February. Because of the planned referendum, however, bids will not be taken on the first phase, and construction could be delayed for a considerable time, even if the voters approve the two-thirds local financing of the bridge.

Lucy Hopeful Of Meeting Budget Deadline

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Patrick J. Lucy said Tuesday he hoped to deliver his budget message to the Wisconsin Legislature before the March 2 deadline.

At Lucy's request, the legislature recently extended the statutory Feb. 1 deadline in order to give the chief executive more time to scrutinize the record $2.2 billion sought by state agencies.

"I'm hopeful I can complete the work on the budget several days before the deadline," Lucy told newsmen.

Work on fiscal matters by the 1971 legislature cannot begin in earnest until the lawmakers receive the Democratic governor's spending proposals for the two-year fiscal period which begins July 1.

County Board Drops Airport Landing Fee

Registration Charge Wins Approval

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Registration charges — but not landing fees — will be assessed at the Outagamie County Airport.

The county board, after more than two hours of wrangling, Tuesday voted 40-3 to rescind half of a resolution passed by a wide margin last month.

Debate began shortly after the board imposed landing (tower) fees for transient aircraft and registration fees for aircraft based at the port.

Strong opposition came from aircraft owners, fixed base operators and business leaders. The fees were not levied, pending a plan to resolve the controversy.

The compromise that won board approval Tuesday was suggested by Supv. Robert Weyenberg of Kimberly, a member of the airport committee which itself has been split over the landing fee issue.

The committee submitted a resolution Tuesday asking that the fee imposition be voided and that a detailed study be made into other possible sources of revenue at the airport.

Bogged Down

Weyenberg, after the board became bogged down in parliamentary entanglements that included arguments on whether votes had actually been taken on certain amendments, moved that all parts of the January board action be voided except the portion establishing aircraft registration fees.

Such fees, ranging from $20 to $200, depending on the size of the airplane, are expected to raise about $1,500 a year.

Weyenberg explained that while there had been numerous objections to the landing fees, no one had criticized the registration charges.

Other modifications were suggested from the board floor. None of them won endorsement.

Supv. Kurt Koletzke of Appleton wanted to rescind all fees because "we're not talking about enough revenue to take a chance on driving out airplanes."

One of the most repeated arguments against the fees was that disgruntled airport users would stop landing there. They tied that argument in with the fear that should port traffic drop below 60,000 movements a year, the Federal Aviation Administration would not take over operation of the control tower there. That, opponents said, would mean the county would be liable for the $35,000 a year operation.

Supv. Kenneth Gibson of Appleton tried to get the entire fee matter referred back to the airport committee for a detailed study on port revenues and a report back to the board on June 1.

Supv. R. Clayton Van Dyke of Kaukauna wanted a resolution

City to Study Ambulance, Emergency Service Needs

The Appleton Board of Health today endorsed a study of ambulance regulations and emergency service in the city.

Ald. Thomas Mulvihill (14th) proposed the study, saying its aims should include an ordinance setting operating standards for private ambulances, and an investigation of having a physician on duty around the clock to handle hospital emergencies.

The discussion rubbed tender nerve ends more than once, with private ambulance personnel criticizing the city Fire Department Rescue Squad and the city health commissioner, a physician, saying it is up to patients to arrange to have a doctor waiting at the hospital when an emergency case arrives. Mulvihill said he became interested in the lack of full-time physicians in emergency wards after his grandson was taken to a hospital with a fish bone caught in his throat and had to wait until a doctor arrived.

Call Family Doctor

Dr. James Laird, city health commissioner, said the family should have called their doctor before going to the hospital. "A lot of people don't know that," replied Mulvihill.

"Well, they had better find that out, they've been told often enough," replied Laird. "You can't expect a doctor to sit over there 24 hours and wait for an emergency," he continued. He likened it to expecting the City Council to sit in session around the clock waiting for emergencies. He said administrators of the two local hospitals are "very happy with the way it is now."

It was pointed out that a Green Bay hospital recently employed a resident doctor to handle emergencies. Dr. Laird said the hospital hired the only physician practicing in Wrightstown for the job. "While it fills one gap, it creates another," he said.

Future Meetings

Mulvihill said he hopes the board's action will lead to future meetings between city officials, representatives of both local hospitals, the county medical society and private ambulance services to work out proposals.

Laird said there is some sentiment in local medical circles for installing long-distance monitoring equipment in ambulances, to transmit measurements of patients' physical condition to the hospital, which could analyze the data and recommend treatment to ambulance attendants.

Those who favor the plan, he said, "say that the deaths are primarily on the way to the hospital." But he added that the cost would be considerable.

The conflict between private ambulance operators and the fire department rescue squad occupied much of the discussion.

Complaints Repeated

Representatives of Gold Cross and Larry's Ambulance Service repeated their complaints that the fire department is competing with private enterprise.

An attendant for Larry's claimed the private firm's service is "better" than the city's, citing Red Cross training received by the private attendants.

Fire Chief Roland Kuehl refused to debate the claims, but pointed out that firemen assigned to the rescue squad receive monthly training approved by the local medical society.

Mulvihill said citizens asked whether the private attendants are adequately trained. Operator Lawrence J. Seidl, of Larry's, termed the question "a slap in the face" for the private firms.

The fire chief revived the controversy with a request for funds to replace an old station wagon in the city rescue vehicle fleet. The request is being held in suspension until the health board makes its study.

Screen Requests

The City Council supposedly voted the fire department out of the ambulance business a year ago, but Kuehl said it is impossible to screen out telephone requests for emergency service before the squad is sent to the scene, often to find a situation that the private operators could have handled.

"You've either got to eliminate it or allow it," Kuehl said of the fire department squad.

James Welch, operator of Gold Cross, said he favors an ambulance standards ordinance, but added that if enacted it must be enforced. If it isn't, "it is worse than no ordinance, because you give the people a false sense of security," he said, adding that enforcement is a difficult and unpopular job.

Court Study OK'd

Without discussion and by a 36-2 vote, the Outagamie County Board Tuesday authorized a study of the county court system by the Institute for Judicial Administration.

Supv. John R. Schreiter of Appleton, a prime mover for the review, said today he hoped it could be started in at least two months.

The resolution seeking the study was submitted by the courts and justice committee of which Schreiter is a member. It is aimed at determining if there actually is need for a fourth county court branch as was recommended in December by a special state legislative committee.

Voting against the study were supervisors G. Allen Bubolz and George Driessen, both of Appleton. Nine supervisors were absent during the balloting.

The Senate judiciary committee is hearing testimony this afternoon in Madison on proposals for additional courts in Eau Claire, Outagamie, Dane, Waushara, Rock and Racine counties. Schreiter said he hoped to have the county represented at the hearings.

He has estimated the additional court branch would cost taxpayers $60,000. Included in that cost would be court space and salaries for a judge, his court reporter and the additional manpower that would be needed in the clerk of courts and district attorney's offices.

The county committee, in its resolution, suggested that a backlog of cases, which has been cited by proponents of another court, might be the result of "antiquated business and administrative techniques, particularly those used in determining the movement of cases."

A fourth county court might not be the solution to such a problem, the committee stated. Some supervisors have cited disproportionate case loads between the three county court branches as being a major source of the problem.

According to the resolution the study will be aimed at evaluating the court administrative structure, the efficiency and effectiveness of its present operation and the procedures and workload alignments.

Supervisors, by approving the resolution

—Authorized entering into an agreement with the Institute for Judicial Administration, based at the New York University Law Center, for the study —Approved seeking 50 per cent federal funding for the project through the east central regional office of Criminal Justice Planning. No agreement will be finalized until federal funds are assured.

—Appropriated $1,000 as the county's estimated share of the study cost.

Schreiter said the application for federal funding will be submitted soon. Chances of getting the funds look good, he said. The courts committee has been working with the local Criminal Justice Planning office in laying the groundwork for the study and in seeking federal funds.

14-Year-Old Admits Setting House Fire

A 14-year-old Appleton boy has admitted setting a fire Friday night which destroyed a vacant north side home.

Detectives were called to investigate the report of a 9-year-old neighbor girl, who spotted two high school age youths running from the small frame home at 1322 N. Kenilworth Ave., moments after the fire started.

State Fire Marshal Earl Schwabe of Green Bay assisted fire and police authorities during the investigation. Fire officials said the rapidly burning blaze left only a charred hulk.

A juvenile aid bureau detective said this morning that the youth made the admission Monday night after appearing voluntarily at the police station with his father. The case has been referred to Juvenile Court

Man Gets 5 Years for 14 Felonies

Reformatory Sentence Handed Down to Gary Dorschner, 21

A former Appleton man Tuesday was sentenced to five years in the Green Bay Reformatory on 14 felony counts dating to June, 1968.

Gary Dorschner, 21, stood before Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer in County Court Branch 2.

Dorschner, formerly of 317 W. Packard St., was convicted of seven original burglary counts on Jan. 14. County investigators said Dorschner broke into seven establishments in Appleton, Kaukauna and the Town of Grand Chute between March 9 and 15, 1969, in connection with the original charges.

Keith Rondou, 22, 318 S. Benoit St., who authorities charged was along with Dorschner on the seven crimes, pleaded guilty earlier this month in Winnebago County when the charges were consolidated there.

County investigators said the pair got at least $575 in cash from the assorted businesses. Various pieces of electronic equipment also were missing.

Six charges from Winnebago and Calumet counties were entered into the record against Dorschner Tuesday. Authorities said five burglaries and a theft were committed by him between June 20, 1968, and March 15, 1969. The additional felony count of criminal damage to property also was lodged Tuesday from Outagamie County.

Investigators said the offense occurred Oct. 24, 1968, when Dorschner damaged two tractors belonging to a Grand Chute man.

The Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission is likely to embark on another mission to interest mid-Fox Valley counties into joining its organization, and this time it could have better success.

The commission will be asked Thursday at its quarterly meeting to authorize its special merger committee to talk with the four Lake Winnebago state administrative district counties which aren't Northeastern members.

Approval is expected because the commission not only has favored talks before but it has indicated that it will give the merger committee almost any tools it might need to effect a merger with the Fox Valley

Council of Governments (COG), the metropolitan agency serving the Fox Cities to Oshkosh area.

A commission spokesman said today that the commission's chairman, Gordon Bubolz, Appleton, "is not taking an aggressive approach in this but if the counties are interested, the commission will discuss membership with them. But it's not a hard-sell job."

Time Growing Short

However, he noted that time is growing short for a workable arrangement to be found for future multi-county planning. The planning agencies have been warned of this, and Northeastern is providing its merger committee with the authority to take up membership discussions, if they are desired

If all Lake Winnebago district counties were part of Northeastern, this would place it in a strong position for working out any merger arrangement, which could include a combination of a rural multi-county agency and a metropolitan planning agency encompassing a few counties.

Growing state and federal pressures for an end to duplication in planning and the soon-to-come designation of the Fox Cities-Oshkosh area as officially metropolitan also are compelling reasons for counties to move toward some type of multi-county planning arrangement.

Henry Althiser, Shawano Northeastern's merger committee chairman, said the committee definitely would contact counties — Fond du Lac, Calumet, Green Lake and Marquette — if authorized to do so.

No Funds?

If the counties don't find some acceptable arrangement soon, he said, adequate planning funds may not be forthcoming. He noted state officials warned of this at the last merger talks between COG and Northeastern. "It definitely will put the pressure on the two agencies, and counties in the area, to make their moves," he said. "We're going to have to make some decisions and make them very shortly."

He expressed concern that COG merger committeemen were reluctant to take a firm position on a merger. They had indicated at the last meeting that there was a difference in thinking among COG officials about the boundaries and arrangement of future planning operations.

Bringing in the four counties would fit in with a concept that Northeastern has expounded for years — the need to keep a watershed area within one planning area. This arrangement would create a basis for a total approach to the Wolf River-Fox River-Lake Winnebago watershed and be in accord with recommendations made by the Federal Water Quality Administration, the commission has indicated.

Northeastern officials have talked with Calumet and Fond du Lac county officials, as

Police Detective Relates Break-in, Shooting at Xavier

An Appleton Police Department captain testified Tuesday that he fired shots that killed one burglary suspect and wounded another during a stake-out of Xavier High School in December.

Jerome Kavaney, captain of detectives, described events surrounding the shootings during a preliminary hearing for Irvin Zehren, 40, and his wife Florence, 39, 500 Harljes St., Combined Locks, who earlier were referred to as "principals in the crime."

The death of Richard Eickhoff, 42, Madison, was ruled justifiable homicide by Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps on Dec. 14, two days after Eickhoff was fatally wounded in a hallway at Xavier.

Kemps reached the decision after conferring with the district attorney's office and police.

Kavaney explained from the witness stand that he, seven other officers and Dist. Atty. James Long were briefed at the police station the night of Dec. 12 that break-ins were anticipated at Xavier and the nearby St. Bernard Catholic Church. In teams of four, Kavaney said, they stationed themselves inside the two buildings about 9:30 p.m. and waited.

Tipped Police

Mrs. James Wellens, 2815 Heather Ave., testified just before Kavaney that she tipped police several hours before the burglaries were to take place. She said she advised authorities that the men, Eickhoff and Harry Mueller, 28, Madison, would be armed.

At 11:28 p.m., Kavaney testified, he and Det. Charles List heard the panic bar on a door "snap, like somebody used it to open the door." After a long pause, Kavaney said, "List saw two figures...in a crouched position, sort of running" in Xavier's south corridor.

They were able to see the other hallway from where they were hidden in the north corridor, Kavaney explained, because of glass windows which separate those halls from a courtyard.

After losing sight of the figures, Kavaney said, he and List "believed they (Mueller and Eickhoff) were in the office area." The officers heard a "prying noise and snap" which they later learned came from a counter window lock on the office's glass partition which had been broken. They heard voices say "the safe is open," and something like "is there another way out of here."

Confronted Pair

Then, Kavaney said, he and List came out of their hiding places and confronted Mueller and Eickhoff. Kavaney, who carried a .12 gauge shotgun, shouted "Halt!" twice, and List once, Kavaney testified.

"Both figures went into a crouch...and their hands went toward their waists or pockets," Kavaney testified. "I shot one, and one of the men spun around a corner, and I shot once more."

Shortly after, police found Eickhoff mortally wounded in a short hall of the south corridor. Mueller fell near the northeast entrance to Xavier, with a chest wound. He was treated and later released from St. Elizabeth Hospital. Shotgun pellets struck Eickhoff in the chest.

Kavaney testified that police had been warned that "both subjects would be armed, and made threats to kill anyone who tried to stop them. We had other information that they would not be taken without a fight," Kavaney said.

Neither Armed

Mueller and Eickhoff were not armed that night.

The preliminary hearing, conducted before County Judge Gustave J. Keller, was expected to end this afternoon with testimony on one remaining burglary, authorities said.

A mental examination at Central State Hospital was directed Thursday for Mueller, after he caused a brief courtroom disturbance and his competency was questioned.

Previous testimony in the preliminary hearing revealed that, according to Mrs. Wellens, Zehren planned to house Mueller and Eickhoff and provide burglary tools for them to burglarize other places in the Fox Valley.

Passenger Numbers Down, Freight Up for Air Wisconsin Line

Air Wisconsin, Appleton-based commuter airline, reported carrying 4,728 passengers in and out of the Outagamie County Airport during January. There were 2,172 outbound passengers and 2,156 incoming passengers.

In January, 1970, a total of 5,184 passengers boarded and departed at the Outagamie County Airport.

Air freight shipments for the month totaled 67,691 pounds. This is an increase of 13,269 pounds over January of last year.

Regional Health Planning Given Reluctant Backing

OSHKOSH — The implications of regional health planning became clear to coordinating committee members Tuesday night as they listened to the Winnebago County Comprehensive Health Planning Resource committee ask for approval of its bylaws and guidance on schemes of representation for the region's governing group.

Most of the supervisors did not like what they saw, and worse, knew there wasn't a thing they could do about it. "Again, they are caught between the public's demand and Washington's implementation and funding (the power) programs to meet the need. The need in medical planning is for rationality — the highest level of care at the most economic cost for a given geographic area."

Now, medical care is deteriorating and costs are rising to levels which exclude many citizens who cannot afford to pay. Planning is too often based on petty jealousies, desires for prestigious, high-style technology and blind following of medical fashions at the expense of democratic health care.

Socialized Medicine

"The federal government said we were not doing a good job of distributing the medical care dollar," explained Dr. Paul Gohdes. He proclaimed the inevitability of socialized medicine, and pointed to the huge federal investment in it now with Medicare and Medicaid.

The committee approved the resource committee's bylaws, and told them to come back with a written proposal considering various scenes of representation. County board chairman Orrin King insisted that the populous counties in the eight county Lake Winnebago region be represented more than those without the people on ty's board has said it must be equal.

Committee vice chairman, Carl Steffin, a supervisor from Menasha and member of county health committees, was frank about funding. It will eventually be all tax funded. Next year, he saw a need for $5,000 from Winnebago County. For the first seven years, federal funds will come in. During that period and perhaps beyond it, there may be some private money from industry, united funds and the like.

The Lake Winnebago Region is the last in the state to get health planning underway. The rest of the state is organized and funded. "We've been dragging our feet," said Dr. Gohdes.

Supv. Ted Neely, Menasha, bemoaned the socialization, the lack of control elected representatives had over the programs and planning on a local level — there are no regional elected representatives of the people — but charged the group with finding out why insurance companies will pay for in-hospital care, but not for out-patient treatment.

Supv. Roland Kampe, Town of Menasha, tried to find room in the welter of regulations and regulatory agencies for the private capitalist who wanted to begin a nursing home. He was told it would be impossible unless the plans had the county planning committee's okay, the regional group's approval and met state and federal licensing requirements.

Second Chair Ruled Out at Barbershop

NEENAH — After ruling out all alternatives, including a major revamp of the zoning code, the plan commission voted against a change in zoning which would have allowed a barber to add another barber to his operation.

Nick Dionisopoulos, who operates Nick's Barber Shop at 224 Washington Ave., had asked for a change of his present M-1 (multiple family zoning to C-1 (commercial)) so he could hire another barber to work the chair already in the shop.

However, the plan commission was reluctant to spot zone the property and a move to rezone the entire north side of Washington between Walnut Street and Trinity Lutheran Church lost without a second.

Two weeks ago, the commission asked City Atty. Duane Philis, to see if the M-1 zone could be rewritten to allow the barber to employ another person.

Philis' proposal came in to completely eliminate the C-1 and incorporate its classification into the less restrictive C-2 (commercial) and M-1.

The theory was that soon the city would be getting requests to include small shops in large apartment complexes which are in the multiple zones.

However, the major revamp in Philis' proposal was unanimously turned down because the commission felt that elimination of the C-1 would defeat the intent of the zoning code.

Neenah Group Looks At Need for Planner

NEENAH — A joint redevelopment authority (Racon) plan commission committee will be created to research the need for a city planner.

Gears started turning Tuesday as the plan commission decided that it would like to see a city planner, but went along with Mayor Roman V. Hauser who suggested that the initial recommendation should come from Racon.

Last December, the city council voted to hold over a $15,000 fund to be used for city planning. The funds were not earmarked specifically for a planner.

Twice Recommended

Racon has twice recommended that the city hire a city planner. The first suggestion came in conjunction with its pending redevelopment plan and Racon recommended that the planner could also serve as redevelopment coordinator.

The second came after the plan had been defeated and the suggestion was to have a planner update and change the plan so it could meet council approval.

During Tuesday's discussions, a pair of alternate approaches were pursued, including having the Fox Valley Council of Government (COG) handle city planning, and joining forces with the City of Menasha for planning purposes.

The COG suggestion was abandoned after Wayne Bryan, public works director, pointed out that COG was not really equipped to handle city planning functions.

Hortonville Board Looks at Vocational Study Program

HORTONVILLE — Members of the board of education discussed the possibility of forming a cooperative vocational study program with schools from New London, Clintonville, and Shoc-ton.

The first step is the hiring of a local vocational educational coordinator to determine the needs and to perform an extensive survey of the districts involved as a single area.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Mary Rudersdorf, and in turn employed Adolph Klatt, New London, as a special education teacher.

It was also agreed to seek bids for a new bus with fall set for delivery. An option on the bid will be taken, which allows a 66 passenger bus to have seating for 72 passengers. The change is made by making the backs of the seats with a thin sheet of fiber glass instead of the traditional 2 inch padded back.

The board heard about the lower grade reading program

Menasha Hopes for Ballpark Site by June

MENASHA — Come June or July, the city could own between 15 and 16 acres of undeveloped land destined to become the site of a ballpark and park complex.

That's the hope of Mayor James Adams, anyway, as he and other city officials grapple with the problems of federal and state aid eligibility for between 50 and 75 per cent of what is expected to be a heavy investment in land acquisition.

The city now has options on two parcels of land, both on the north side, and measuring 15 and 16 acres respectively. The options run out sometime in April. Adams hopes to have a commitment from the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) for 50 per cent funding for the acquisition project by that time, so the city can move ahead on the deal and not have to negotiate a new option with the owners.

The thought now, however, is to negotiate a new long-term option on the other site and hold that off for acquisition in another year or so. That site (which is acquired first, and which one is put off, will be decided by the common council) will be developed into a winter activities center with man-made sled hill, lake, ice rinks, jogging trails, nature study course, picnic grounds and wooded area, of course.

"It all hinges on approval of a five-year park plan," Adams said today regarding timing of the acquisitions. The park and recreation board moved ahead on development of such a plan Tuesday night. It hopes to have one submitted to the council, for its approval, by its March 1-2 meetings. It will then go to the DNR, which will probably take 60 days to approve it.

The city can then apply for land acquisition funding. A decision on that would take DNR another 30 days, at least.

The city's share for the land acquisition (25 or 50 per cent, depending on the amount of aid) can come from either short-term borrowing or money made through sale of land in the city's dormant industrial park. That 83-acre land site was purchased in 1965, but has since been ruled inadequate for large scale industrial development by the city's industrial development committee.

The first park site will be acquired for future ball park use. The ball park will take about five or six acres of the site, leaving up to 11 acres free for development as park land and recreation area, including a native animal zoo and deer park.

There's no timetable for construction of a ball park. International Wagenknecht has an option on the current ball park that runs out in 1974, and it has notified the city it intends to exercise the option. Park Supt. Thomas VanBuskirk has said he would like two years to develop a new ball park, so that would mean construction could start no later than 1972.

Hauser turned thumbs down on combining with Menasha. "We have had a redevelopment authority and Menasha has had a redevelopment authority and at no time have they seen fit to go to a joint planner," Hauser said.

"We have nothing to gain by a joint planner. It would just create more problems with Menasha redevelopment over there and Neenah's right here. We should start our own," the mayor said.

Stressing the need for proper procedure, Hauser pushed for referring the issue back to Racon for a recommendation. "I don't think we should cut Racon or the plan commission out of it at this time. Both are very much concerned with a planner. It's just a matter of jelling the procedure," Hauser said.

Joint Committee

Commissioner Ronald Lange suggested the joint committee approach with a trio of representatives each from the plan commission and Racon. Appointed from the plan commission were Bryan, Ald. William Zelinski and Robert Bues. Bues is the former Appleton public works director, and for a time, was responsible for that city's planning department.

Bryan pointed out that the city already has a job description for a planner. He referred to a 1969 memo from Arno Haering Jr., then COG regional planning director, who had proposed creation of a department of city development headed by a professional planner.

The proposal laid out in detail what functions a planner would handle and what place he would hold on the city organizational structure.

Former mayor Donald Hasler had recommended following Haering's recommendations, but the move lost on the council floor when aldermen discovered the city was operating over budget in 1969.

After the redevelopment plan was defeated in a pair of trips to the council, the planner issue became dormant and was not started again until December when Racon was called in to review a building permit application from the Wisconsin Michigan Power Company.

At that time, Racon members endorsed the application, but also asked for some indication on what its next step would be. The planner funds were budgeted in 1970, but had not been spent. Racon asked that the money be held over for 1971 spending.

Menasha's Park Plans Mapped Through 1975

MENASHA — The park and recreation board covered lots of ground Tuesday in its effort to draw up a five-year park development plan for the city.

It mapped out major projects for each year through 1975, and added a few minor projects as well, at an informal work session Tuesday at the Memorial Building.

The planning effort is being rushed so that the city can qualify for federal open space land acquisition funds this year.

Open space applications for 1971 must be submitted no later than April 1, and to qualify for the funds, the city must have an approved five-year plan.

COG Park Planner Dave Wendland, who is working with the board on the planning project, said the city would be alright if it submitted an application by April 1 and got the plan in by mid-April. Open space funds could provide up to 75 per cent of the cost.

The board mapped out tentative proposals for 1971-75 Tuesday. Wendland will now meet with officials informally over the next two weeks to firm tentative plans and add a few projects. The board will then meet and approve a final product to send to the common council for action, hopefully by March 1.

1971 Plans

Plans for 1971 now call for — Construction of six tennis courts and a practice court behind Clovis Grove School, along with a temporary shelter. The courts were donated (about $30,000) last July, by an anonymous donor. Badger Highway has also offered to build a practice court, worth $5,000 alongside Jefferson Park — Restroom facilities at Jefferson Park, for about $30,000. Tentative drawings for such a project call for a 30-foot-by-30-foot building including double the number of toilets presently at the park.

It would also include storage area and ceramic tile inside and outside.

County Board OKs Addition to Plamann Park

Option Approved
On 15 Acres for Mosquito Hill

Supervisors added 143 acres to Plamann Park and took initial steps to increase the size of Mosquito Hill Park by 15 acres during the Outagamie County Board session Tuesday.

The Plamann Park property will be purchased from Arthur Lecker of Appleton for $1,000 an acre. However, about $71,000 in federal Land and Water Conservation funds and another $35,000 in Outdoor Recreation Act Program money through the state have been approved to help cover the land purchase. The remainder of the cost will be borne by the county.

The board also approved taking a 90-day option on 15 acres of land near Mosquito Hill Park which is being offered for sale to the county at $350 per acre from the Hamilton Canning Co. of New London. The land lies just south of County Trunk S.

Seek State Funds

The option was requested to allow the board's public property and parks committee time to submit an application for state funds for the land purchase. Should such funds become available, the committee has authorization to make the purchase. Cost to the county would be about $1,300.

The state Department of Natural Resources has urged the county to purchase the land for future park development.

By other votes Tuesday, the board:

— Revised the county's civil service and salary manual to state that sick leave cannot be taken until after an employee completes his probationary period, but sick leave can be accumulated from the date of hiring.

Disposal Study

— Transferred $1,000 from the contingency fund to a special fund for the ad hoc committee studying solid waste disposal sites for the county. The money will be used for soil borings and other tests.

— Approved new wage contracts with employees of the sheriff's department and the department of social services.

— Raised fees in the county abstracter's office. The per entry charge was hiked from $1.75 to $2 and abstract certificates were raised from $15 to $20.

— Approved a two-pay-grade hike, from 18 to 20, for the county veterans' service officer. The $96 per month raise was needed, supervisors were told, to bring the Outagamie office up to par with similar offices around the state.

County Wardens

— Restored $1,000 to the county warden fund to allow for the hiring of four county wardens. The total budget had been $2,000 in previous years, but was cut in half by action of the board at its November budget meeting. The county wardens assist state wardens, primarily by picking up and disposing of car-killed deer.

— Formally declined an offer by the Town of Grand Chute for 40 acres of land for a county landfill site. The county zoning committee in its resolution stated that the Department of Natural Resources indicated the site was too small for a large scale landfill operation and the site is located within floodplain and wetland floodplain zoning districts, where solid waste disposal is prohibited by ordinance.

Student Asks County for OCTC Funds

County money — not just vocal support — was requested Tuesday by a student representative of Outagamie County Teachers College (OCTC).

"I'm asking for money I'm asking you to run OCTC no matter what," Dale Garrison told the county board.

Garrison briefly reviewed a recommendation of the Coordinating Council for Higher Education that county teachers colleges be phased out in Wisconsin. The end of the 1971 school year has been set as the deadline for state aid to the 13 two-year schools.

The county board took no action on Garrison's plea for financial support. Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt said the county should not act until definite plans regarding the future of the teachers colleges are finalized by the legislature.

Garrison said he was asking for "a chance for OCTC which he said offers a "high caliber of education" for students who for various reasons cannot attend state or private colleges and universities.

Garrison asked the board to consider financing operation of the college for at least one year after financial aids end "to give the people who started this year a chance to finish."

Smile, It's Dental Health Week

"What have you done for your smile lately," is the thematic question asked this week in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week.

Hard at work since Sunday has been the Outagamie County Dental Health Auxiliary, a group composed of dentists' wives, that at least indirectly has answered the week's question.

Not only has the group worked to form a library of dental health information for classroom use, to provide speaker programs for parents and to promote the week through a special post office program; but also it has adopted a comprehensive list of questions and answers related to children's dental health.

According to the auxiliary, it is hoped that this list can serve as an incentive and guideline for discussion throughout the week.

My dentist always is stressing tooth brushing after eating. Why is this important?

It is important because once food, especially sugars and carbohydrates, enter the mouth, they begin to react chemically with oral bacteria to form acids. The acids are effective dissolvers of tooth enamel.

It also is important to stem the growth of bacteria, which if allowed to grow can have a harmful effect on gums. Periodontal disease may develop, a condition that if not treated can spread to the bone, eventually causing loss of teeth.

Is thumbsucking harmful to teeth?

Dentists generally agree that thumbsucking until age five or six — when permanent teeth begin to develop — usually is harmless. However, persistent thumbsucking eventually may cause the upper teeth to turn out toward the lips, creating buck toothed effect.

Some of my child's permanent teeth appear to be coming in crookedly. What can be done to help him now?

Take the child to a dentist. He may replace a missing tooth with a space maintainer — a wire device which keeps teeth from shifting into an empty tooth socket, while permitting the permanent tooth to erupt where it should in the mouth.

The dentist may recommend that you consult an orthodontist, a specialist who corrects deformities of the jaw and teeth.

What is the best type of toothpaste on the market?

The type most beneficial is the fluoride toothpaste. Children most prone to dental decay benefit since it strengthens tooth enamel, making it better able to withstand decay-causing acid.

A word of caution about one type — the so-called tooth whitener. Some of them may contain excessive abrasive material. If one has plastic tooth restorations or teeth exposed below the gum line, these may be damaged.

What about the different products such as electric toothbrushes and water jets? Are they helpful?

The American Dental Association recognizes nine powered toothbrushes as safe and effective, although it states there is no evidence that such brushes are more effective than manual brushes.

The same is true for several water jets.

My family needs dental care, but with the high cost of dentistry, I really can't afford it. Is there some way to lower the cost?

Although dental fees haven't risen as alarmingly as physicians' or hospitalization fees, dentists recognize their service isn't cheap, and often it is possible to work out a special payment system with them that will fit a particular family budget.

Other possibilities include free service at some dental schools, dental insurance and postpayment (a program whereby the patient's bank will pay the fee as a type of loan). It also is possible in many states, as in Wisconsin, to qualify for a Medicare program covering dentistry.

Does smoking affect your teeth?

It certainly does. Habitual smoking not only can stain teeth, but recently it has been learned that smokers have a higher incidence of gum disease and run four times the risk of death from oral cancer.

Also, pipes and cigars are recognized as poor substitutes for cigarettes, since it is found both can be factors in lip and tongue cancers.

Lucey Proclaims POW Week For Wisconsin

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Patrick J. Lucey has declared March 7-14 as Prisoner of War Week in Wisconsin.

He requested all citizens to participate in a "write Honor" campaign, expressing concern "for our men being held in Indochina."

Lucey said it was his hope "that the mass media, business, labor, veterans groups, service organizations, political parties, et al will participate in this humanitarian effort which vastly transcends any particular position on the Indochina conflict."

stating that in light of an "economic hardship on taxpayers," a moratorium be placed on any further capital improvements at the airport. He would allow only routine maintenance and safety needs "for the duration of the economic downturn."

Supv Eugene Kloses of Appleton, a frequent critic of the board's handling of airport affairs, wanted the entire resolution to reconsider the January action ruled out of order because "propaganda had been incorporated" into it. He asked for a detailed study to "show what the airport is doing for who."

Northeastern Merger Try Likely Again

recently as a year ago, but the two counties apparently decided against joining the commission. Each has its own county planning operation.

However, Northeastern has "a good service that it can provide to these counties," said Allhuser. "If they want to join, they would be welcomed." He added, "I think we have a lot of things in common, and by adding two or three counties to the joint effort, it will give us an overall base for a future planning arrangement."

He said that Northeastern always was trying to interest other counties in membership but noted that it was up to the counties to decide if they needed and wanted Northeastern's planning services. He said that in past years some counties had come to the commission's planning offices for information on the operation.

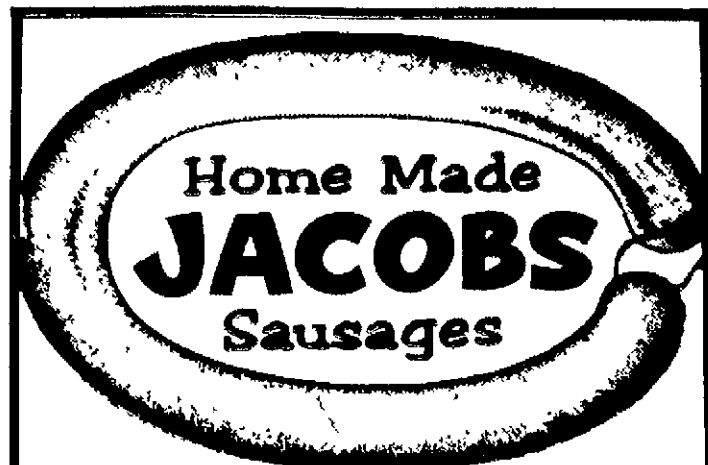

Outside of Northeastern, there are other efforts to find a solution to future planning needs. A meeting is slated Monday in Oshkosh when officials of the eight Lake Winnebago district counties are invited to discuss the topic.

Former State Rep David Martin's ad hoc committee is coming up with proposed articles of organization for a new metropolitan agency.

The next COG-Northeastern merger talks are Feb. 25.

School Board Expecting to Reduce Staff

1971-72 Projected
Enrollments Down
In Kimberly Grades

KIMBERLY — A possible reduction in staff for the 1971-72 school year is indicated by projected elementary enrollments, school board members were informed Monday night.

Elementary school principals Mrs. Marie Couillard and Ivol Van Handel said that the staff for the two Combined Locks schools could be reduced by one with the addition of another teacher's aide.

West Side Elementary School should be able to operate with the same number of faculty members, it was reported but two or three teachers' aides or intern teachers would not be needed. They also reported no change in staffing for the Maple Street Elementary School but requested one additional special education teacher to work with children from ages six through 12.

Junior Prom
Board members approved a request, made personally by high school junior class officers, to permit the junior prom to be held off the school premises. This will be the first time the affair will not be held in a school building. Students earlier received permission from the village board to stage the April 16 event in the new municipal complex and the school board agreed.

Supt. of Schools Ray Hamann was instructed to draft a policy governing granting of high school diplomas to adults who had dropped out of school. Action will be taken on the policy at the next board session.

Earlier board members aired opinions on what requirements should be met prior to granting a diploma, and these are to be incorporated into the policy.

The resignation of Mrs. Irene Huebner, high school study hall monitor effective Jan. 22, was accepted and Mrs. Joan W. Subert was named to replace her effective Feb. 5.

Counsel Retained for Bond Issue for Jail

A new jail moved another step closer to reality Tuesday when the Outagamie County board voted unanimously to retain a Chicago law firm as counsel on the $3.8 million bond issue to be floated by the county.

About $2 million of the general obligation bond revenues will be used to finance construction of the jail.

The county board will meet in special session next week to act on a resolution authorizing the floating of the bond. At that time supervisors will be presented with a breakdown on where bond revenues will be spent. A large portion will be used to pay off several short-term obligations.

Appleton supervisor G. Allen Bubolz, finance committee chairman, said a series of required advertisements will follow next week's board action and supervisors should be able to take final action on acceptance of a bond bid at the March 9 session.

If there were no special board session next week the awarding of a bond bid probably would have to wait until April. Bubolz explained he said he wanted to complete bonding preliminaries while there was still a "low interest rate cycle" which would sponsored school management session at Green Bay on Feb. 17 and 18. Board members also agreed to pay tuition expenses for Peterson at UWGB Fox Valley Campus for a course in school finance.

Kaukauna Board Adopts Programmed Budgeting

KAUKAUNA — The board of education Tuesday voted to adopt programmed budgeting through use of computers for 1971 to provide it with more complete information on how money is spent.

The programmed budget will enable the board to have the budget broken down into responsibility and provide members with a clearer picture of just what areas of school operation affect costs of running the educational program.

Initially the budget will be broken down into 25 areas including departmental operations on the high school level, individual elementary school costs and other facets of the school program. After a one-year study, the budget will be reviewed to determine whether further breakdown of cost areas would be required.

Board members went on record favoring two bills before the state legislature which would include a parochial school students in determining average daily public school attendance, thereby resulting in a possibility of more state financial aid.

Also endorsed was a proposal, to be submitted to the legislature by area superintendents of schools which would have the state assume a minimum of 20 per cent of school costs. Some areas currently get up to 70 per cent while Kaukauna is receiving 89 per cent in aids, according to school officials.

Board members listened to objections of a resident of the school district concerning the five day unexcused absence policy after which unexcused absences could result in required makeup sessions. They refused to change the policy noting it has worked effectively for the past four years and was generally accepted by both parents and students.

Approval was given to a resolution seeking $39,000 rather than $29,000 in state aids for support of the central office of Cooperative Education Service Agency No. 8.

Directors will meet later to elect an executive board.

KAUKAUNA — Ten directors at a 4:30 p.m. meeting Monday will be elected and annual reports reviewed at the annual meeting of members of the Kaukauna Community Hospital.

Directors will meet later to elect an executive board.

Rally Breaks Into Violence At Madison

MADISON (AP) — Antiwar rallies during which students called for peaceful classroom interruption at the University of Wisconsin were capped late Tuesday by an outbreak of vandalism.

Police used teargas to disperse an estimated 300 young persons who marched down a business thoroughfare from the campus toward the state Capitol. Windows in several stores broken.

About 2,000 persons had rallied earlier Tuesday on a campus library mall, then moved to the "Old Red Gym" with police patrolling the gathering. Another rally was held at a student union.

The protests are aimed at last weekend's allied invasion of Laos, and at the Vietnam war in general.

Members of Tuesday night's march said they had hoped to picket a Capitol Square motel, site of a Veterans of Foreign Wars convention.

The throng was confronted instead at the edge of the square by police. Marchers insisted teargas preceded the breaking of windows.

When vandalism broke out, some marchers shouted to their companions: "No trashing."

An estimated 22 policemen faced the marchers and forced the group to disband along State Street toward the campus.

Just About Everybody Awoke at Same Time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A television newscaster had this one-sentence description of what it was like when a 6:01 a.m. earthquake rocked a metropolitan area of about seven million: "It was the day almost everybody in Los Angeles woke up at the same time."

Ground Troops in Vietnam Likely To be Double Number Anticipated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of U.S. ground-combat troops remaining in South Vietnam after May 1 is likely to total more than 100,000 men, rather than the 40,000 to 45,000 predicted by the White House.

The difference lies in the way the term "ground-combat troops," or infantrymen, is used.

The White House appears to distinguish between such troops when they are assigned a formal ground-combat responsibility and when, in a security role, they are safeguarding American air, artillery and logistics elements supporting the South Vietnamese army.

The distinction was made Tuesday by White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler when he confirmed President Nixon has been projecting the figure by May 1 in briefings connected with new allied attacks on enemy bases in Laos. Ziegler said the figure does not include infantry security forces protecting American bases.

With little apparent success, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has been trying since last spring to prepare the nation for the continued presence of a substantial number of U.S. ground-combat troops in Vietnam after the fighting is handed over to the South Vietnamese, probably by midsummer.

Laird had said the second phase of the administration's Vietnamization program—in which the American military will play only a supporting role for the South Vietnamese—does anticipate that combat forces will remain in Vietnam.

As Laird explained: "They will be assigned a security mission in order to protect the safety and security of the American forces that are remaining in a support role."

"I would assume that the security forces would constitute from 45 to 50 per cent of the forces left in Phase II . . ."

Shifting Role

Assuming the combat mission is transferred fully to the South Vietnamese by July 1, U.S. forces are expected to be reduced to 260,000 or fewer, including as many as 130,000 combat soldiers in a security role.

Shifting the combat role to the South Vietnamese would mean remaining U.S. units would no longer be assigned tactical areas of responsibility but would protect artillery fire-support bases, military airfields used by American planes and supply depots.

Nobody has publicly and officially defined how the security mission will be carried out by U.S. forces during the second phase of the American withdrawal, although Laird came closest.

While visiting in Vietnam, he said, "That security role I don't envision as the kind of role where you stand around a fence 24 hours a day."

An active security is anticipated, with American ground-combat elements patrolling away from the bases and positions they are protecting and seeking to thwart the launching of infantry attacks on U.S. support outfits.

Saigon Now Threatens Drive Into N. Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Two thousand more South Vietnamese troops crossed into Laos today, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky threatened a drive into North Vietnam.

U.S. and South Vietnamese helicopters lifted the fresh Saigon troops across the border, raising the number in southern Laos to more than 10,000, field reports said.

Vietnam Press, the government's news agency, quoted Ky as saying that if necessary South Vietnamese forces may cross the 17th parallel into North Vietnam to flush out supply bases in the area.

The agency said Ky made the threat in accepting a gift from Vietnamese pilots who took part in the first bombing of North Vietnam in 1965. Ky is also commander of the South Vietnamese air force and a native of North Vietnam.

Informed sources said several battalions of the South Vietnamese force that pushed into Laos Monday had advanced along east-west Route 9 to areas north and south of Sepone, a main North Vietnamese transshipment point and base area on the Ho Chi Minh trail.

The town 25 miles from the Vietnamese border has been reported virtually deserted, and there were no immediate reports of any fighting there. Nor was there any word of what the South Vietnamese found in the way of enemy supplies. The aim of the operation is to choke off the North Vietnamese troops and supplies moving down the

A big cleanup already was under way. In downtown Los Angeles and in communities in the San Fernando Valley, whose western edge is but 10 miles from the quake's center, the glass and bricks and crumbled mortar that littered streets and yards were being scooped up and carted away.

Several major freeways remained closed because of crumpled paving or fallen overpasses.

Soledad Fault

Scientists attributed the temblor to a little-known fault that rates as a pipsqueak. It is the Soledad Canyon fault in the rugged San Gabriel Mountains. A scientist who visited the scene found signs of vertical slippage—one side of the earth fracture higher than the other—but said he could easily step across the crack in the earth.

Seismologists at the California Institute of Technology assigned the quake a magnitude of 6.6 on the Richter scale, which rates major ones at 7 or more. This made it comparable to the 1933 shock in nearby Long Beach that killed 115 persons and caused $40 million damage.

Experts emphasized that this was not the long-predicted "great" earthquake of magnitude 8 or more expected some day when the fabled San Andreas fault cuts loose.

This giant crack in the earth's crust runs from the Gulf of California into the sea north of San Francisco and was responsible for the devastating 1906 temblor in the Bay area.

Agnew Sent In Vice President Spiro T. Agnew headed here for consultations today after President Nixon proclaimed California a disaster area, eligible for help from a dozen federal agencies.

Reagan, after issuing a similar disaster proclamation, flew from Sacramento and made a helicopter tour of worst-hit areas. He saw rescuers pull a victim from hospital ruins.

The deaths and greatest damage were concentrated at the west end of the San Fernando Valley, Los Angeles, "bedroom" community and home to 1.3 million.

It is a 320-square-mile oval west of downtown Los Angeles, with the Santa Monica Mountains on the south and the San Gabriels soaring a mile high on the north. It is paved with housing tracts and dotted with shopping centers.

network of jungle trails to South Vietnam and Cambodia.

The Saigon government reported two fights today across the border along Route 9. A spokesman said 33 North Vietnamese and six South Vietnamese were killed and 17 South Vietnamese were wounded.

The spokesman said the fighting occurred inside Laos southwest and west of Lang Vei but gave no distances.

Vietnamese casualties since the operation began Monday now total 55 North Vietnamese and 18 Saigon troops killed and 56 South Vietnamese wounded, headquarters said.

The U.S. Command made a belated announcement that a second UH1 helicopter was shot down Monday in southern Laos while supporting the initial drive across the border. A spokesman said two wounded American crewmen were rescued and two are missing.

Four Americans were killed in the crash announced earlier. Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese command shifted forces to the northeast corner of South Vietnam to guard against any enemy push across that part of the demilitarized zone in retaliation for the South Vietnamese drive into Laos.

The Saigon government said 3,000 to 5,000 of its troops had been moved into the region around Dong Ha, on the coastal strip along the eastern flank of the DMZ.

Nine thousand U.S. troops are acting as a blocking force on the western side of the DMZ, backing up the South Vietnamese push across the border in Laos.

Resignation Rumored For Lon Nol

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian Premier Lon Nol's doctors have ordered him to give up all official duties temporarily amid rumors that he will resign.

A communique on page five of the official news agency bulletin said today: "On medical recommendations, Gen. Lon Nol, president of the Council of Ministers, must suspend temporarily all activities in order to get a medical examination and treatment."

A source close to Col. Lon Nol, the premier's younger brother, said Lon Nol was expected to be out for about a month.

Vice Premier Sisowath Sirik Matak will serve as acting premier, the source said. Lon Nol also is Cambodia's defense minister.

Rumors have circulated in Phnom Penh for several weeks that Lon Nol would resign. They have been published in local newspaper editorials during the past week.

Just One Way to Go in California

LOS ANGELES (AP) —With streets buckled, cracked and potholed, authorities were unable to barricade all motoring hazards on some of the less-damaged streets. But they had plenty of help after Tuesday's earthquake.

Residents placed lawn and patio furniture in streets as warnings and in one area long-haired young men wearing peace-symbol sweat shirts fashioned barriers from pieces of wood.

"What's the best way to get back to Los Angeles?" a newsman asked one hippie-type in the San Fernando Valley.

"Man, the best way is to fly," came the reply.

Gamblers in Casinos Ignored Earthquake

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Casino hotels along the Las Vegas Strip swayed. Chandeliers moved like pendulums. A few lamps crashed to the floor.

But nobody in this gambling spa got very excited when an earthquake struck Tuesday. Many said they thought it was just another nuclear blast at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada Test Site.

Prices are lower. That's one reason to buy Diamond Walnuts now.

Here's another:

Brownies

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2 1-oz. squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 cup chopped Diamond Walnuts

Beat eggs lightly with spoon. Stir in sugar, salt and vanilla, then melted shortening and chocolate. Stir in flour and walnuts together. Do not beat at any time. Spread mixture in an 8 or 9-inch greased square pan. Bake at 325°F. for 30-35 minutes. (Brownies should still be soft.) Let cool in pan. Cut in squares. Makes about 3 dozen squares.

You come up with the cash to make up the difference. You face the fact that a health insurance policy that promised $50 a day for hospital care didn't go very far when you really needed it.

That's the hard way to learn there is a difference.

It's the difference between conventional coverage — offering specified dollars-per-day benefits — and the service-benefits coverage pioneered by Blue Cross and Surgical Care Blue Shield. Bridge players have learned to blame the computer! The computer has invaded all phases of modern life and tournament bridge has not been excluded.

For quick duplication of identical tournament bridge hands, computer-dealt hands are used. Computer sheets are distributed to players to "deal" hands to coincide with the sheet, players preparing hands they will not play.

Since the advent of the computer hands, much has been blamed on the "diabolical distributions" contrived by the computer. Naturally, the computer programmers deny such accusations and maintain that the hands are dealt at random.

Today's hand was actually hand dealt. However, many players would swear it could only come from a computer.

This hand was played at 12 different tables, and, as you can imagine, the results were many and varied, depending on the contract and the opening lead. These were some of the results:

Six hearts by North went down twice.

Seven hearts by North was made twice and was set once.

Six no-trump by South was set once.

Six spades by West was made three times, once doubled.

Seven spades by West was set twice, both doubled.

Seven clubs was bid only once and was made, doubled.

The most bizarre auction of the group is shown above. North's bid of four no-trump must have been intended as Blackwood, a call we can only describe as more impulsive than judicious. How could north know whether South's aces would be useful unless he had all three?

South, thinking North had a huge hand, jumped to a grand slam in his solid suit. West, obviously bewildered by the wild proceedings, choked out a double.

North ran to the presumed safety of his own suit. After all, had he not initiated the nightmare? South, in a bit of pique, wrested the contract to

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is my third letter to you. I have torn up the others because they sounded so stupid. I am determined to mail this one because I need an answer. Will you please tell me why a housewife with five little kids, no beauty on anybody's list (30 pounds overweight), with a marvelous, devoted husband, gets pounced on by men of all types.

Recently I was talking to seven no-trump. West doubled again, feeling sure that everyone was mad. Both South and West thought that South was going to be the declarer!

It was North, however, who had perpetrated the whole affair with his initial bid of four no-trump, and he was to be the declarer. Picture poor East. He had sat there innocently throughout the entire charade and now was to select the lead!

What else? East led a diamond, thinking that his partner had "something" in that suit, since he had doubled both seven diamonds and seven no-trump. North ran off with the nine diamonds and 10 heart tricks — 19 tricks. If East had led a black card, East-West could have scored 16 tricks — eight in each suit.

Poor East. He would have sworn that a computer had dealt this hand.

the TV repair man about the weather. Without warning he slid his arm around my waist and kissed me on the neck. I nearly passed out. Last week I was chatting with our minister about a recent church service. He suddenly pulled me toward him, kissed me on the lips and whispered, "You are irresistible." Three months ago my doctor made a pass at me in his office. Today the mailman rang my bell and handed me a package. He said there was 60 cents due but he'd settle for a kiss.

What is this madness? I do not give these men any encouragement. I don't want anyone but my own husband. Has the world gone crazy? Please explain. — Ready to Resign from the Human Race

Dear Ready: My first reaction to your letter was... "ah ha — the Yale boys are writing phony letters again —" So I checked the postmark and to my surprise I see your letter comes from St. Louis.

I don't know what you've got, honey, but if you find out you ought to bottle it. I have a hunch you're sending out coded vibrations that are being picked up by some local decoding experts.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I used to think, "Oh hell, why not take drugs — get as much pleasure out of life as possible. The world is in lousy shape. Trouble everywhere you look." Then one day I met a woman with a mentally retarded child. He was a sweet little boy about eight, but he couldn't do much for himself. He was like a two-year-old. The mother had taken the boy all over, trying to get help — hoping and praying that somewhere a doc had something new, something that would help her boy's mind develop.

I began to think about what I was doing to myself. Here was a mother who would give anything in the world if her boy could have a normal brain, and I was screwing mine up with pot and LSD — freaking out four nights a week I was like wild. I'm off the junk now and it was easier than I thought. All I needed was keep reminding myself of that mother and her little boy. The preaching and scare stuff didn't make a dent, but somehow that mother got to me. Ann, please print my letter. It might mean something to somebody.

— Off It
Dear Off: Here it is. I hope it connects.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please answer a question for me. I am going nuts trying to figure something out. My husband is addicted to TV. The minute he comes home from work he turns on the set. Sometimes he watches for a few minutes then goes to the basement and gets involved with his hobby — model ships and airplanes. If I turn the set off he hollers from the basement, "Leave the TV alone." The same thing happens when he falls asleep in front of the set, after supper. If I turn the TV off he wakes up immediately and gets mad. I can't figure out how he knows whether the TV is off or on. Please explain. — Mystified in Ol' Miss

Dear Miss: A continuous sound can keep some people "relaxed" or asleep. When that sound stops they miss it. This may seem illogical, but it's true.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Go Patriotic!

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

This is the year to go patriotic on Monday, Feb. 15, for a combination Lincoln and Washington Day under the new Monday-off deal ... or wait until Friday for the Anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birthday and Monday, the real Feb. 22, for the anniversary of our first president, George Washington of cherry tree fame.

He didn't really chop down that cherry tree, but the legend sprang up with an imaginative pastor looking for an object lesson and a great American hero to hang it on. The ironic part is that it dealt with "truth" of which the good pastor had little or he wouldn't have dreamed up the story about a man who achieved greatness as a robust general and "father of his country" without the need for moral fiction.

Yet, the cherry theme has stuck and long has been associated with February celebrations. In a sense, the cherry idea is a good one because it's definitely a patriotic color and goes well with the image of Lincoln as the rail-splitting young man born in a log cabin as well as Washington.

Our nation's 16th president and outstanding leader may be remembered or honored with a "log" of ground beef that's sauced with tomato-onion mixture. Logs have become a Lincoln symbol ever since he was elected president back in the Civil War Years.

A cherry-topped Danish blue cheesecake with its unusual sweet-tart flavor makes an excellent choice for observing the anniversary of either great American.

The cranberry pie and cranberry-apple dumplings are adaptations of Colonial recipes handed down through the years. As for the baked ham, dubbed Virginia Ham for its colony and later State of origin is typically Mount Vernon in flavor as is the creamy chocolate pie that goes with it. Both are American specialties of the Eastern seaboard states for generations.

As for the cranberry — it's really more American than apple pie because this bright berry is America's only native fruit. So what better way to celebrate Americana?

CRANBERRY PIE
1 pkg. pie crust mix
1 can (16 oz.) whole berry cranberry sauce
2 cups seedless raisins or currants
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 lemon
Rum Eggnog Sauce

Prepare pie crust according to package directions. Use two-thirds of pastry to line bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan.

Mix cranberry sauce, raisins, almond extract and prepared lemon. The lemon is cut first into paper-thin slices, then is seeded and chopped coarsely. Pour this mixture into bottom of pie pan. Roll out remaining pastry and cut into 10 strips; arrange over top of filling in lattice form. If any pastry left over, reroll and cut into stars with small cookie cutter; place pastry stars around outer edge of pie.

Bake pie in preheated, 425-degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes, or until crust is brown and filling bubbly. Cool thoroughly before cutting into wedges. Serve with Rum Eggnog Sauce.

RUM EGGNOG SAUCE
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 cups commercial eggnog
1/4 cup rum
1/2 teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg

Mix cornstarch and eggnog. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until sauce bubbles and thickens slightly. Remove from heat; stir in rum and nutmeg. Chill until ready to serve. May also be served warm. Recipe makes two cups sauce.

CRANBERRY-APPLE DUMPLINGS
6 medium sized baking apples
1/4 cup sugar
1 can (8-oz.) whole cranberry sauce
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Dash cloves
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 pkg. pie crust mix
Milk
Hot Cranberry-Almond Sauce

Peel and core apples, leaving fruit whole. Mix together sugar, cranberry sauce, spices and butter.

Prepare pie crust mix according to package directions. Roll out on floured board to a 12 by 18-inch oblong. Cut into six squares. Place one apple in center of each pastry square. Fill hole in apple with cranberry sauce mixture. Wrap pie pastry up over apples, turning down corners to expose top of apple. Brush with milk. Bake in preheated, 350-degree oven for 40 minutes, or until apples easily pierced. Serve with hot sauce.

CRANBERRY-ALMOND SAUCE
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup sugar
2 cups cranberry juice cocktail
2 tablespoons slivered, blanched almonds

Combine cornstarch and sugar; gradually stir in cranberry juice cocktail. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sauce bubbles and thickens. Add almonds after taking away from heat.

Serve hot over apple dumplings.

VIRGINIA HAM BOURBON GLAZED
1/2 uncooked ham, about 6 pounds

Call it a Lincoln Log Meatloaf for February observances, but during the rest of the year this flavorful supper dish can be known as Meatloaf Swirl. It's one of those ground beef dishes that's both economical in cost and delicious in taste.

1/2 cup Bourbon
Water Whole Cloves
2 tablespoons Bourbon
1/4 cup catsup
1/4 cup dark corn syrup

Place ham in large kettle or Dutch oven; pour Bourbon over top of ham; add enough water to cover meat. Bring liquid to quick boil; cover pan and reduce heat to low. Simmer about two hours, or until ham is tender. Drain, but save liquid to use later in pea soup or lentil soup.

Remove rind from ham; score fat in diamond pattern. Stud with whole cloves. Combine glaze ingredients, second part of recipe, and when blended, spoon over ham. Bake in preheated, 300-degree oven for about one hour. Baste occasionally with pan drippings. This sized ham serves from 8 to 10 people.

Note: If using fully cooked ham or canned ham, score and stud with cloves as above. Heat about 20 minutes per pound, spooning on glaze about one hour before ham is baked.

CHOCOLATE CREAM PIE
1 1/2 cups chocolate snap crumbs
1/4 cup softened butter or margarine
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups milk

2 ounces unsweetened chocolate
4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 cup Bourbon
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped and sweetened to taste

Chocolate curls for garnish
Combine chocolate snap crumbs with butter. Press into 9-inch pie plate. Bake in preheated, 350 degree oven 10 minutes. Cool. Sprinkle gelatin over 1/4 cup cold milk to soften.

Marketing Memo

Red Meats Scarce, but Ham, Pork Good Buys

The flurry of activity in the livestock market this week may be good for producers, but not for consumers.

Reduced slaughter, storms, severe cold and some local problems have all reduced the supply of red meat going to retail stores.

Beef is exceptionally strong and isn't expected to change much in the next few weeks, says Rosemary Stare, consumer marketing specialist at the University of Wisconsin. Reports indicate that there are a large number of feeder cattle, but most aren't quite heavy enough to be ready for market.

Pork cuts will continue to be an attractive buy at the meat counter. Although the supply of hogs is still sizeable, movement to market has been erratic with the changeable weather. Ham and bacon again will be among the more attractive items at the meat counter.

Processed items this time of year may be a top buy now that fresh produce supplies must come from distant growers.

Fresh Vegetables
Carrots, celery, cabbage, potatoes and onions are the best values in fresh vegetables.

Dry onions have been an exceptionally good buy in most markets.

Potatoes are a little higher than a few weeks ago, but still moderate in price.

Changes at the fresh produce counter include less cucumbers, tomatoes, green peppers, radishes and corn. These are among the fresh vegetables in light supply. They'll carry fairly high price tags. Corn and radishes received severe damage from the cold. Cauliflower and broccoli usually are high in price this time of year as production shifts from one area to another. Quality has been variable on supplies available.

Fruits Available
Fruits remain fairly reasonable. Apples show little price change. Quality on storage apples is good. Bananas, after weeks of bargain price tags, show a 3 to 4 cents a pound increase. D'Anjou Pears are good quality and quantity.

Citrus fruits show some strength after cold temperatures in the growing areas. Juice oranges from Florida are plentiful. There are adequate supplies of reasonable navel oranges from California.

Florida tangerines are nearly gone, but supplies will continue from Mexico and California.

Grapefruit shows some strength, especially in the smaller size fruit. Quality seems to be good.

From Covered Wagons to Spaceships

One Hundred Years and six generations adds to a lot of living for anyone. Ellen Bessette celebrated her first century Saturday at a reception at the VFW Clubhouse, New London. Mrs. Bessette was born in Fond du Lac, resided in the town of Maple Creek and then in the Wittenberg area. She is a resident of St. Joseph's Residence, New London. In her 100 years, she has seen the covered wagon give way to spaceships and flights to the moon. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Beat egg yolks in the top of a double boiler; add 1/2 cup sugar and cornstarch, and beat until well combined. Gradually stir in scalded milk-chocolate mixture and Bourbon. Cook over hot (not boiling) water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and coats the spoon.

Remove pan from hot water; stir in gelatin mixture and vanilla. Continue stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Let mixture cool in pan until it thickens enough to mound slightly.

Beat egg whites until they start to form soft peaks. Gradually add remaining 1/2 cup sugar and beat until stiff.

gravy mix, water, pie filling, and vinegar; simmer 5 minutes. Spoon into 1-quart casserole.

Prepare pie crust as directed on package; roll out to a circle about one inch smaller than top of casserole. Cut out cherry and hatchet shapes in crust with a knife. Place crust on top of filling.

Combine slightly beaten egg and milk; brush over crust. Bake at 425 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes until golden brown. Recipe makes four servings.

MEAT LOAF LOG

2 pounds ground beef
2 eggs
1 cup fresh bread crumbs
1 teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon garlic salt

1/4 teaspoon cayenne
1 (8-ounce) can Tomato Sauce with Onions
3 ounces thinly sliced Italian dry salami
8 ounces shredded Mozzarella cheese
1/4 cup sliced stuffed green olives

Blend together beef, eggs, bread crumbs, oregano, garlic salt, cayenne and one-half can tomato sauce with onions; mix well. Pat meat into a 16 by 10-inch rectangle on waxed paper or aluminum foil. Arrange salami slices in five rows on meat, leaving a small margin on all sides. Sprinkle cheese over salami.

Starting from shortest end, roll up meat jelly-roll fashion, lifting roll with waxed paper.

Seal ends and edge by pressing meat together. Place seam side down on shallow baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Top with remaining sauce and sprinkle with olives. Continue baking 10 minutes. Recipe makes eight servings.

KAUKAUNA — St. Mary School children will hold a Cupcake Day Sale Thursday morning.

Messy but Fun

"Art" is messy, so plan ahead. Let the child wear clothes you don't mind being painted. If necessary, art time can be planned to conveniently come just before bath time. A low table just for your youngster is handy. If you use your good table just drape it with oil cloth and clean up is a snap.

While art supplies may be purchased, there are recipes for making some of the materials.

Fingerpaint ingredients include: 1½ cups flour, 1 quart boiling water, 1½ cups soap flakes, ½ tablespoon poster paint.

Mix flour with cold water to form creamy paste. Add boiling water and cook until mixture becomes transparent or glassy looking. Stir constantly. Let mixture cool a bit; then add soap flakes, stirring until evenly distributed. Let cool and pour into jars. Add paint.

To make Soap Flakes Fingerpaint put about one cup soap flakes in mixing bowl. Add water gradually, beating with electric mixer or egg beater continually. The amount of water added and the amount of time on the mixer will determine the amount of texture of the paint. Paint needs to be about the consistency of stiffly beaten egg whites. Add color with food coloring or tempera paints. This must be used soon after it is prepared.

With soap flakes fingerpaint something" while the two-year-old will be content to scribble for awhile.

Crayon Is Toy

Children start with uncontrolled scribbling. At this stage, the child moves his whole arm as he uses the crayon. The crayon is a toy to explore.

At this time, color and design are not important. One crayon of any color and lots of paper are all the child needs. The product is not important, the process is. The child is interested in the action of scribbling not what he can make. The child may have little interest in talking to you about his picture, since it really isn't anything.

From this uncontrolled scribbling, children move into controlled scribbling. At this stage a child begins to make a conscious effort to control the tool and repeat motions. A series of circular shapes or parallel lines are often seen.

At this time, it's good to introduce a variety of materials for the child to experiment with, says Mrs. Klessig. The child will enjoy using chalk, felt tip pens, colored pencils, water colors and finger paints as well as crayons.

Paper for the art work need not be expensive, many of the things you have around the house are excellent — shelf paper, shirt cardboard, wrapping paper, paper sacks, paper towels, wax paper, and if you're a student, computer print out.

Children enjoy pasteing. Some of the things you can give a child to paste onto paper are noodles, cloth and paper scraps, tooth picks,

Making and Doing
Part III—Making Puppets Out of Used Plastic Household Bottles

Your child, like most others, probably likes to poke his fingers into the openings of empty plastic bottles. Have you thought of giving this natural impulse of children a purpose? After such bottles are empty and have been thoroughly cleaned and dried (and if they did not contain hazardous cleaning or other fluids), you can teach your pre-school or elementary grade child to use them to make his own finger and other puppets, play figures and dolls.

Give your child work space at a table that is washable, or that you cover with cardboard or newspaper, at which he can work standing or sitting. Provide him with a blunt scissors, bits of cloth, ribbon, colored paper, foil, shirt board, a couple of ping-pong balls, old corks, pipe cleaners, short strands of twine or wool, glue, wax crayons and the cleaned, empty plastic bottles you have managed to save.

Show your child how he can cut out different shapes and materials and glue them to these bottles to make faces and figures. He can use some bottles right side up and others turned upside down. A half a ping-pong ball or a cork can become a clown's nose. Facial features and ears can be cut from paper or cloth. Rope, ribbon and twine ends can be gathered together to make a mop of hair. And he can clothe his puppets by gluing snippets of cloth and paper onto the bottles.

Give your child an old shoe box in which to keep the puppets he has made. Admire his work and encourage him to take his puppets to class for show-and-tell sessions. You'll give him incentives to make and do, to stick to his work and to finish what he starts. Help him build a small puppet theater out of a large corrugated grocery carton. Turn it upside down and cut out part of the front. It can be a stage or a make-believe TV set behind which he acts out a play with his puppets for you and for his friends. You can make a curtain for his theater or draw control knobs onto the front of his pretend-TV set.

Easy Pecan Pie Variation Wins $25,000 in Pillsbury Bake-Off

An easy-to-do bar form of caramel pecan pie took the Pillsbury Best of the Bake-Off Award as well as top of the division to win $25,000 for Mrs. Pearl Hall, Skonomish, Wash.

She was one of 100 finalists in the 22nd annual Pillsbury Bake-Off held this year at the Hawaiian Village in Honolulu. Wisconsin's two entrants as preliminary winners were Mrs. Glenn Ocock, Appleton, and Mrs. Glen Adler, Marshfield. Both had won electric ranges and the trip to the Bake-Off. Mrs. Ocock for her winning recipe of Cherry Crescent Cheesecake Cups and the Marshfield homemaker for her recipe for Very Cherry Crescent Ring. Both Wisconsin entrants competed in the refrigerated crescent roll division. The top $10,000 prize in this category was won by a Salinas, Calif., cook.

Mrs. Hall's recipe was in the cake mix category. Her $25,000 winning entry, together with the two Wisconsin recipes are given below.

PECAN PIE SURPRISE
1 pkg. Butter or Yellow Cake mix
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1 egg
1 cup chopped pecans

2/3 cup reserved cake mix
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 1/2 cups dark corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs

Generously grease bottom and sides of 13 by 9-inch baking pan. Open cake mix, reserving two-thirds cup of dry cake mix for the filling.

In large bowl, combine remaining cake mix, butter and one egg; mix until crumbly. Press in prepared pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 or 20 minutes until light golden brown.

Meanwhile, prepare filling, second part of recipe, by combining reserved cake mix, brown sugar, corn syrup, vanilla and three eggs in bowl; beat in electric mixer at medium speed for one to two minutes.

Pour filling over partially baked crust; sprinkle with pecans. Return to oven and bake 30 to 35 minutes more, until filling is set. Take from oven; cool. Cut into bars. Recipe makes 26 bars.

CHERRY CRESCENT CHEESECAKE CUPS
1 can (8 oz.) Refrigerated Quick Crescent Dinner Rolls

1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 egg
2 cups (half 15.4-oz. pkg.) Vanilla Frosting Mix
1/4 cup chopped almonds, pecans or walnuts
1 teaspoon almond extract

2 cups (1 lb., 5-oz. can) Prepared Cherry Pie Filling 1/4 cup lemon juice or kirsch
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Lightly grease eight muffin cups. Open dinner rolls. Set oven temperature at 350 degrees.

Prepare filling (second part of recipe) by blending cream cheese and egg; add dry frosting mix, nuts and almond extract; blend well. Set filling mixture aside for later use. Separate crescent dough into four rectangles. Firmly press perforations to seal, thus preventing separation during baking. Roll or pat each rectangle out to make four larger, 10 by 5-inch rectangles. Cut each of these in half, crosswise, to make eight squares.

Wisconsin's Two Finalists in the 22nd annual Pillsbury Bake-Off pose in Honolulu with the General Electric range on which they baked their original recipes Monday in competition with 98 other contestants for the $25,000 Grand Prize. At the left is Appleton's Mrs. Glenn Ocock, 8513 N. Spruce St. The only other state contestant is Mrs. Glen Adler, Marshfield.

Place reserved filling, about one-fourth cup, in center of each pastry square. Bring four corners up to center. Place filled squares, sealed-side up in greased muffin cups. Bake at 350 degrees for 18 to 22 minutes or until golden brown. Immediately remove from pan. Serve warm with topping.

Prepare topping (third part of recipe) by combining all ingredients — Cherry Pie Filling, lemon juice or liqueur, butter or margarine — in medium saucepan. Cook over low heat until bubbly and butter melts, stirring occasionally.

VERY CHERRY CRESCENT RING
1 cup maraschino cherries
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup chopped almonds, pecans or walnuts
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
2 cans (8 oz. each) refrigerated quick crescent dinner rolls
2 tablespoons chopped almonds, pecans or walnuts
5 maraschino cherries, halved

1 cup powdered sugar
4 teaspoons milk
1/4 teaspoon almond extract

Grease cookie sheet. Reserve five maraschino cherries as topping for glaze. Chop remaining cherries.

In small mixing bowl, combine chopped cherries, cream cheese, nuts, sugar and almond extract.

Separate crescent dough into four large rectangles, each can of dough supplying two. Overlap long sides of rectangles; firmly press edges and perforations to seal. Roll or pat out to form rectangle about 15 by 13 inches. Spread cherry-cheese mixture over dough. Starting at long side, roll up rectangle, pressing edges to seal.

Place seam side down on prepared cookie sheet. Form into ring, firmly pressing ends together. With scissors or sharp knife, cut almost through ring at one-inch intervals. Turn each section slightly on its side. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes, until golden brown.

While still warm, drizzle with glaze, second part of recipe, made by combining powdered sugar, 4 teaspoons milk and almond extract. Garnish with almonds and reserved cherry halves. Serve warm.

All Fisk tires are guaranteed against tread wearout for the number of months specified on the sales invoice. If the tread is less than 2/32" deep before the end of the specified period of use, Kmart will make an allowance* on the purchase of a new tire proportionate to the number of months remaining in the time guarantee. (Number of months will be computed from date of purchase.)

TREAD LIFE GUARANTEE
If a Fisk tire fails due to defects in workmanship or material or as a result of road hazard (except in cases of abuse or repackable puncture, as determined by Kmart) at any time while 2/32" or more of the original tread remains, Kmart will, at its option, either replace the tire or make an allowance* on the purchase of a new tire proportionate to the amount of original tread remaining. This guarantee does not apply to truck or commercial use.
*Based on allowance to be the actual selling price in effect at the time of the adjustment, plus federal excise tax.

all. These five will win the national grand prizes. These major prizes will be construction kits manufactured for boys and girls by the Model Products Corporation to build miniature versions of the Pilgrim Observer Space Station, the next giant step in interplanetary exploration.

The model space stations have 14 movable parts, including three swing-out sections, a moving Apollo module and a movable space taxi. The lift-off length of the model is 12 inches, the cruising length is 17 inches.

To enter the contest and try for a local prize and then for one of the national grand prizes you must complete each rhyme. Print the two words in the proper spaces. Clip out the picture, paste it on a sheet of paper and print your name, age, address and Zip number beneath it. Decorate the entry in any neat, original way with paints, crayons or cutouts. Finally address it to Cappy Dick's Post-Station Contest at The Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Names of the prize winners will be announced here and their awards will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none returned.

$3.5 Million Decrease By Giddings & Lewis

Giddings & Lewis, Inc., Fond du Lac, lost an estimated $3.5 million in 1970, including extraordinary charges, the machine tool manufacturer reported Tuesday. The firm has a fourth quarter loss of over $4.3 million.

The 1970 slide was due to continuing depressed business conditions and spiraling costs of material and labor, Kraut said. "While we believe the recent changes in the tax laws with respect to depreciation of capital goods will be of some benefit to machine tool manufacturers, our rate of incoming orders has been far from encouraging," he said.

Kraut said the firm's backlog was $28 million at the end of 1970 compared with $61 million at the end of 1969.

Giddings & Lewis in November announced plans to close a Madison plant of Gisholt Machine Co. and lay off a number of employees of that division.

Giddings & Lewis hasn't paid a quarter dividend since March 1970.

2 Years Ordered On Theft Charge, Other Felonies

Two years' probation, with the first six months to be served in the Outagamie County jail, was ordered Tuesday for David Van Eyck, 20, on an original theft charge and five additional felonies consolidated from three other counties.

Outagamie County investigators said Van Eyck stole a garden tractor from David Nelson, route 2, Shiocton, last May 27. He earlier pleaded guilty to that count.

Three felony thefts and two burglary charges were combined Tuesday from Shawano, Winnebago and Calumet counties. Those offenses occurred between April 16 and July 8 of 1970, investigators said. The break-ins were done at businesses, authorities said, while the thefts involved riding mowers, a tractor and trailer.

Van Eyck, 1627 W. Summer St., was part of a large theft ring operating out of the Fox Valley cracked last September, investigators said. Some of the stolen property was known to be sold elsewhere in Wisconsin, as part of the ring's dealings, they charged.

Gov. Lucey and Higher Education

Gov. Lucey has left very little doubt about his hope to achieve a legislative review of an issue that has too long been ignored by governors who shared his concern about the fragmented operation and management of the state-supported system of higher education which is by far the most important of the taxing purposes of the state operations budget.

He said during his election campaign that he leaned toward a centralized direction under a single board of regents of higher education. Early in his term, as he held public budget hearings, he showed that he has strong reservations about the adequacy of the undergraduate teaching at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. That concern is shared by others, but the institutional interests involved have always thus far been able to turn aside objective inquiry.

Today there is a greater awareness of the reality that the University of Wisconsin campus is overwhelmingly involved in graduate level work. The state universities' primary mission is teaching undergraduates. At Madison the senior professor's contact with undergraduates is glancing, at best. The bulk of the teaching force for young students consists of part-time teaching assistants, graduate students themselves, and some of them only two or three years senior to their pupils.

In the state universities the basic teaching force consists of fully trained professors, most of them tenured. For many of the TA's, as they are known, teaching is incidental to their own educational programs. Part-time class work is basically a means for the financing of their own graduate studies.

The governor seems to be concerned that the "prestige" of the university's undergraduate teaching, as measured against that of the unrelated state universities, is one of association derived from the UW's status in graduate fields, that such prestige rubs off on the undergraduates, and that there is accordingly less value in an undergraduate degree from Oshkosh or Whitewater, or whatever. We fear he is right, and we fear also that there are some other irrelevancies involved in these invidious comparisons — the UW athletic program, its high powered publicity expenditures and other factors that have precisely no relation to the quality of a Bachelor's degree in English.

But there are other reasons for an unblinking examination of the decentralized operations of high tax cost higher education. There are disturbingly frequent elements of conflict and rivalry, in funding, in work missions, in the creation of new academic departments, among others. The Coordinating Council for Higher Education was a half-hearted attempt to minimize these, 15 years ago. But by nearly unanimous consent, the CCHE is now regarded as a failure. Partly because of the blatant political compromise that it represented from the moment of its conception, it has been bent to accommodate institutional rivalries, sometimes even to the point of vote trading in policy deliberations. In space funding, in the establishment of salaries for teachers of equal responsibility and training, in a host of other factors, the state has tolerated discrimination in the treatment of its major educational institutions for too long. We hope Gov. Lucey pursues his inquiries, courageous as they are in historical perspective.

Toward a Diffusion of Population

The growing concern about "green" areas in urban centers has come to a head in Denver. The Colorado Environmental Commission has recommended that the four-county Denver metropolitan area be limited to a population of 1.5 million and that the suggestion be enforced by state law.

Currently there are some 1.25 million people living in the area so that only 250,000 more would be permitted to build or move in. The commission further approved of setting up a green belt of parks and agricultural projects 35 miles wide to cut off growth into the area from other communities. The commission chairman, Dr. Max Peters, dean of the college of engineering at the University of Colorado at nearby Boulder, concedes that "it is an idealistic concept, but it will get people talking."

Even if the proposal is adopted by the Colorado legislature, there is the problem of enforcement. Dr. Peters flatly says that building permits will have to be refused and if there are violations, "simply tear the buildings down." There are some softer recommendations stressing "encouragement and discouragement" from other members of the commission. This aspect stresses the fact that the state should stop trying to "sell Colorado and discourage industries from coming to areas where population is already great."

This whole concept has been promoted, although rather slightly so, by the Nixon Administration, with the idea of getting people to move out of the urban areas into the countryside. Unfortunately, we suspect the political pressure of suburbanites, some of whom are the major backers of the Republican party, may be having their effect.

Actually the concern over the desecration of rural and wilderness and recreational areas is spreading. Vermont and Oregon have already officially opposed more spending for the encouragement of more tourists. There has been some unofficial discussion of the matter in Door County. The hard fact is that too many tourists — or as is the case around Denver — too many residents — so change the atmosphere of the area that the original lure is gone.

There must be a continuation of encouragement for industries to be set up out of current urban areas. There must be restrictions on recreational areas and a continued close watch upon the type of wilderness or recreational areas to be approved.

The United States obviously is by no means overcrowded, although some parts of it are. The stress must be on a diffusion of the population as well as on restrictions of some types of recreational and residential area.

Undoubtedly the Colorado proposal will not immediately get through the legislature. Governor John Love has carefully said that a discussion of the matter is a good thing, which is something far less than enthusiastic endorsement. There has been little sign from Washington in recent weeks that any sort of pressure will be brought to bear so it seems up to individual states and communities to protect themselves from what is certain to be contamination of waterways, camping sites and even simply overpopulation, which will only add to the variety of problems.

"The United States has decided to accept the 200 mile jurisdiction proposed by Chile, Peru and Ecuador... under those terms, we now own Cuba!"

Phoney Populist

Old Bob LaFollette Rolling In Grave Over Sen. McGovern

BY KEVIN P. PHILLIPS
WASHINGTON — The newest Democratic Presidential candidate, South Dakota's Senator George McGovern, cultivates the image of a prairie Populist. His speeches vibrate with evangelical hostility towards the sinister, multi-billion dollar "military-industrial complex." He insists that the U. S. remain aloof from foreign wars and spend tax dollars here at home.

Such positions are nothing new in the upper Farm Belt. Wisconsin Senator Robert La Follette Sr. opposed World War One as a gravy train for munitions makers and Wall Street financiers. North Dakota's Gerald Nye led the 1934-1935 investigation of the "Merchants of Death" who had profited from the war. Senators William Langer (N. D.), Henrik Shipstead (Minn.) and George Norris (Neb.) are other similar fish out of the same between-the-wars pond of Farm Belt isolationism.

In many ways, then, Senator McGovern is part of an old (and parochial) tradition, but the junior Senator from South Dakota has given the game a new twist.

Were All Poor Men
Senators La Follette, Langer, Nye and Company were relatively poor men. They spurned the fast bucks dangled their way by the big city vested interests. However myopic their crusades, they sincerely fought for hard-pressed farmers or unhappy German-American villagers traumatized by wars that always seemed to be fought against their fatherland.

Not George McGovern. His politics don't flow from prairie soil or the German back roads of South Dakota so much as from the riot-scarred quadrangles of campus radicalism and the well-endowed centers for the study of this and the social reform of that.

More to the point, these same wellsprings of contemporary liberalism are keeping "the David of the Plains," as one pundit called him, in plenty of the long green. According to information filed with the Senate, McGovern received a total of $63,501 in outside income in 1969 from lectures, speeches, seminars, foundations and the like. (This year's figures are yet on file.) Only one other Senator exceeded this figure. Adding his $42,500 U. S. Senate salary, the South Dakota agrarian radical grossed a pleasant $106,000 income for the year. Genuine Populists like Senator La Follette must be rolling over in their graves. And, the people of South Dakota might also be less than impressed — if they knew. Mitchell, South Dakota, where McGovern legally resides, is a typical small Farm Belt city. Its most famous building is the Corn Palace, a multi-turreted, Taj Mahal-like affair, decorated with huge corn-ear and Indian grass murals redesigned each year by a Sioux Indian artist, Oscar Howe. This part of South Dakota is one of America's best pheasant-hunting locales, and each fall the Mitchell area looks like a convention of shotgun owners.

Has Washington Palace
George McGovern does not spend much time, however, with the shotgun set. And with $106,000 a year flowing into his Populist pockets, he can afford a palace made out of more than dried corn and Sudan grass.

Agrarian radical McGovern's Washington residence, one of the capital's most fashionable, was designed by a French architect, Peter Trouchaud.

Needless to say, this is not the lifestyle of yesterday's agrarian radicalism. Beneath the verbal camouflage of isolationist-Populist tradition, the George McGovern is a new breed of political cat. To be sure, they are for farmers and against war, but with little success (beyond oratory) in helping the former or ending the latter.

Their principal preoccupation is a "reordering of priorities" that downgrades defense expenditures in favor of increased outlay for domestic "reform." The farmers of the Great Plains won't see much of any new money, whatever McGovern's insinuations. "Reordered priorities" means more money for the social-industrial complex of poverty consultants, urban housing profiteers, computer tycoons, concerned coalitionists, suburban housing experimenters, surplus academicians and the like.

All these groups are George McGovern's main constituency. Their money put him in his feudal Japanese mansion and he in turn is their samurai. You don't get McGovern's type of support watching out for Dakota wheat farmers.

Wisconsin Report

Charges of Corrupt Lobbying Practices Infrequently Proven

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The ranks of the "professional persuaders," as a colleague aptly calls them, are filling again on the sidelines of the state legislature.

These are registered agents of several hundreds of causes growing in numbers as the force of government upon human enterprise of every conceivable description is felt ever more heavily and as interest groups organize for more effective presentation of their goals and problems to elected representatives of the people who write the laws.

These are the "lobbyists," a description that inevitably summons hostility and suspicion and images of reckless immoral men lurking about dim corridors and luring the naive representatives of the people into dark places for the savoring of gargantuan quantities of costly food and disabling drink. When the lobbying registration law was refurbished more than a dozen years ago, some sensitive representatives of the trade sought to devise a more neutral name and to remove themselves from the traditional image of cynicism, stealth and suspicion associated with the historic title. They failed. Lobbyists they always were and lobbyists they remain today in the statutory nomenclature.

Law Is Strict
Yet a fair survey would disclose that the Wisconsin lobbying system and its controls would be regarded as puritanical in almost every other state.

The news corps at the Capitol is not naive. It has a normal appreciation of the vagaries and the weaknesses of men — those in office and those on the sidelines. But it also has an appreciation of the rigid prohibitions that now apply, including the flat prohibition of any gift of "anything of value" to any public officer. Hence, the general reluctance to make the sweeping generalizations of corruption and malevolent influence so often indulged by critics in more remote stations.

Most of the important lobbyists are professionals either as managing directors of trade or similar associations or as lawyers. Perhaps half of them are lawyers and thus are immediately liable for the most severe penalties for any impropriety or unprofessional act. Most of the trade association managers work under similar restraints — even if they were disposed to the corrupt or unethical practices so often imputed to them.

Dane County, which includes the capital city, has had a long succession of district attorneys who have been willing to prosecute — if they had evidence of malpractice in legislative lobbying.

Yet the charge of dishonest and illegal practice continues — typically with a vigor that is in direct relation to the distance between accusers and the Capitol. A Milwaukee TV reporter not long ago solemnly related what he called sums of money available to distribute to legislators. Besides the cash, "there is a lot of dinner or eating money around," he intoned with theatrical indignation.

The young man may have proof, but his feet are strangers to the hard marble floors of the statehouse that professional correspondents tread with eyes and ears open each day.

Any one of them would be fired tomorrow for deliberately suppressed proof that there are officers there "with their hands out, ready to be persuaded." The sanction would apply also to a libelous fabrication, an inconvenience that evidently does not govern the confident commentator a hundred miles removed.

Anybody who has reason to believe that money is changing hands, or "anything of value" in the Wisconsin statutory language, needs only to call the Dane County district attorney. As it happens, the new man in the office is a friend for whose will and courage I can testify.

The circumstances have not changed. All recent prosecutors would have taken up immediately any serious complaint about legislative wrongdoing. Curiously, however, there is a desire in many quarters to smear public institutions, a deeply imbedded suspicion that all is corrupt, and a narcissism that refuses to put up or shut up.

Strictly Personal

Edison Poor Speller And School Dropout

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
Can your 12-year-old boy spell "embarrassed," "succeeded," "kaleidoscope," "Havana," "noodle," "vegetable," "ethereal," and "coroners"?

If he can't, don't feel too bad

Harris

Pestalozzi, who later became Italy's foremost innovator in education, was regarded as "wild" and "foolish" at school.

Thomas Aquinas, the greatest thinker in the Catholic Church, was called "the dumb ox" at school. Both Linnaeus and Volta did badly in their conventional studies. Newton was last in his class. Sheridan, the brilliant British playwright, wasn't able to stay in one school more than a year. In our own time, Churchill, that inspiring master of English prose, had a deplorable academic record, and flunked out of Sandhurst.

This is not to suggest that correct spelling is to be despised, or that children ought to be allowed to grow up without formal training in the elements of spelling. It is to suggest, however, that too often the form takes precedence over the content in school, and all that is wanted of children is to memorize the forms, regardless of their comprehension of the words and ideas themselves.

Being a good speller has nothing to do with intelligence, or even with education, properly speaking. It is simply a knack that some acquire faster and more easily than others; good teaching can make it pleasant, and bad teaching can stultify the spelling ability in almost anyone except those with the natural gift for it.

When a child is made genuinely interested in a subject, he soon learns how to spell all the words associated with it, just as he quickly learns the words of a song he cares about. Who would doubt that Edison could rattle off "incandescent" in his sleep?

Looking Backward

Mr. Adkins' Store Underway

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 18, 1871.

Mr. L. Bates has been busy transforming the interior of the "Mammoth Block" into a shapely store for Mr. C. G. Adkins.

The building runs through the block to Market Street and will have the greatest length of any in town. A front will be put in on Market Street, at which end the groceries and goods of that character will be arranged for sale. The front will be occupied by the dry goods department.

When finished and occupied, it will be one of the best points in town for business. Mr. Adkins doubtless will add to his trade in his new quarters, being so much more convenient and attractive than his former place of business.

25 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Feb. 6, 1946.
Members of the executive cabinet of the Athena Tri-Y were Joan Schroeder, Delores Koehnke, Lois Madsen and Eileen Luedtke.

Guests at the birthday party of Miss Audrey Burns, Hortonville, were Marie Steffen, Dorothy Gabriel, Dorothy Thern, Ellen Ruth Behrend, Lorna Plunker, Ruth Lueck, Marcella Lueck, Doris Hansen, Pearl Zimmer, John Collar, Larry Hoier, Russell Baerden, Robert Ahrens, Wesley Armittage, Donald Schulz, Donald Sipe, Richard Buchman, Milton Collar Jr. and Jean Schaezner.

Oshkosh attorney Simon Horwitz was to speak at the Kaukauna Rotary Club. L. F. Nelson was program chairman.

10 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Feb. 8, 1961.
Mrs. Lavern May was general chairman of the Lady Elks' Valentine party at which husbands and friends were to be special guests. Hostesses for the supper were Mrs. Robert Cox, Mrs. Lawrence Verhagen, Mrs. George Noie and Mrs. Ray McCarthy.

Serving on the Appleton Chamber of Commerce nominating committee in preparation for the April annual meeting were Donald C. Bradley, William Zuchke Jr., Richard P. Beelen and John M. Hayes. Fred Eustice was chairman of the committee.

People's Forum letters should be kept as short as possible and, in no case exceed 500 words in length. The editor reserves the right to shorten letters and to delete inflammatory or libelous statements. Letters must be signed and include the address of the sender.

20-Mile Area Near Dam Is Evacuated

GRANADA HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A 20-square-mile area where 80,000 persons live in the suburban San Fernando Valley was under evacuation order today because police feared a potential disaster from an earthquake-damaged earthen foothill dam.

Nestled on a slope covered with trees and brush and overlooking a vast section of middle- and upper-middle-class Los Angeles homes, the Van Norman Dam showed two cracks 20 feet long and 18 inches wide. An earthquake Tuesday caused half of a 3,000-foot concrete apron to slip into one of the dam's twin reservoirs.

Police Chief Edward Davis ordered evacuation although the city water and power department, which operates the dam, said there would be no leakage unless there was another earthquake.

Under Orders

"I have issued an order to my men to not save anyone who doesn't want to be saved," Davis said.

Police in patrol cars, using bullhorns, sped through the area telling residents to leave.

Some valley dwellers spent the night at evacuation centers set up at three high schools. Others stayed with friends.

Only street lights burned in the evacuated, sealed-off area.

Officials said they would have the dam drained to a safe level by tonight. Pumps were used to discharge water into Bull Creek, eventually feeding the valuable drinking water into the Pacific Ocean.

Dam Spill

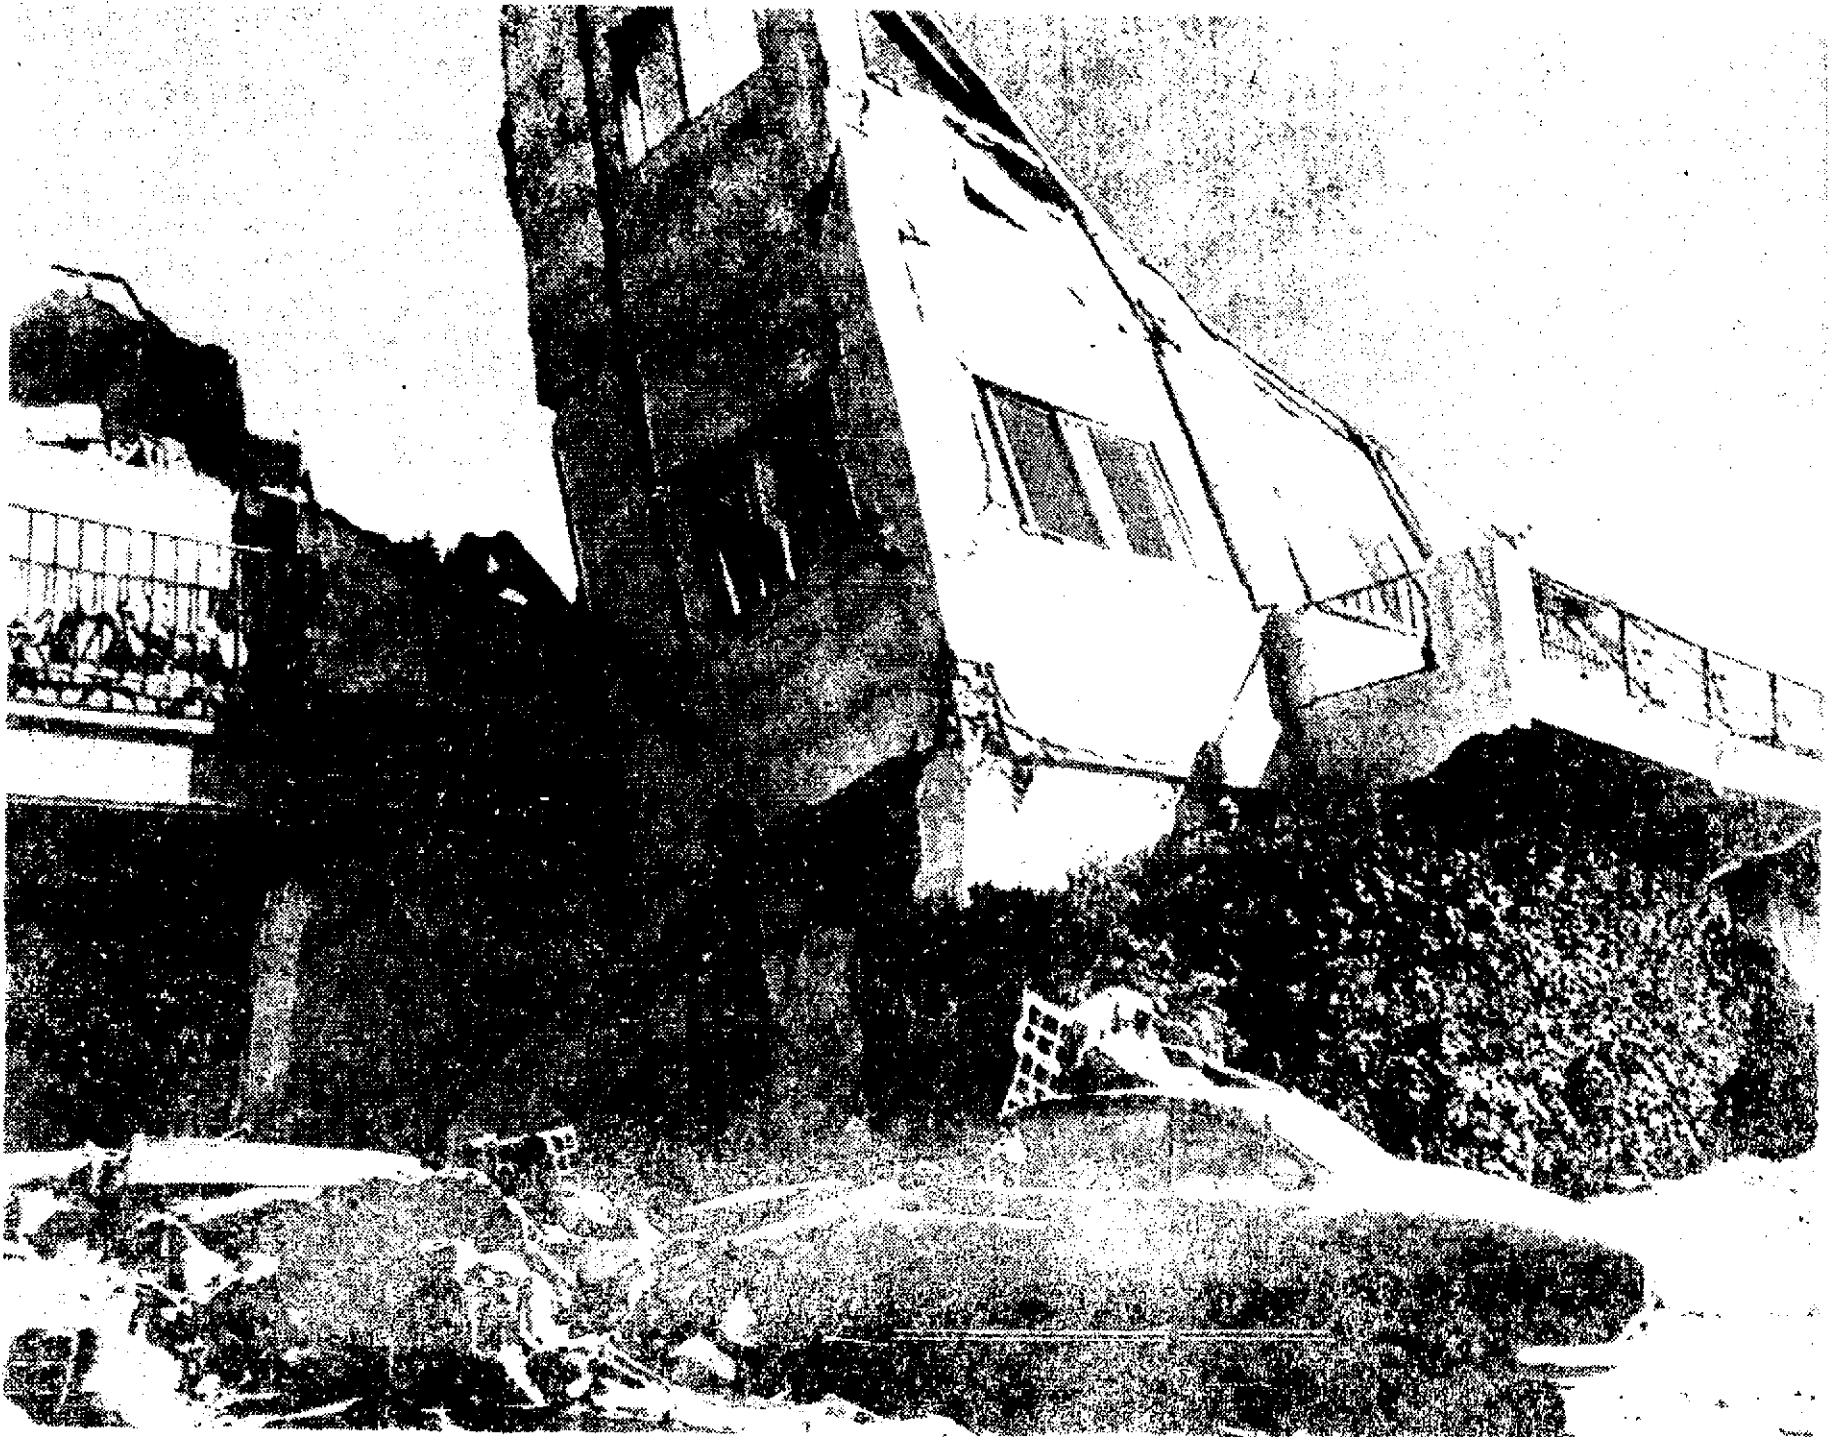

When the earthquake struck there was 3.6 billion gallons of water in the larger of the reservoirs. On Dec. 14, 1963, a break in the Baldwin Hills Dam 20 miles south of the valley spilled about 2.3 billion gallons of water, killing five persons and destroying 64 homes.

"I don't think there's any cause for concern at this time," said a Water and Power Department executive, John Cowan. "We're in good shape as long as there's not another quake."

Most of the lowland homes nearest the dam cost $40,000 and up, a city official said. They are in the bedroom communities of Granada Hills, Northridge, Mission Hills, Reseda, Canoga Park and Van Nuys.

Robert Noel, a dam custodian whose home is at the base of the reservoir, declined to evacuate his family. "If it hasn't busted yet, I don't think it will," Noel said.

Officials estimated damage to the 60-year-old dam at $12.2 million.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Authorities kept a wary eye on a cracked reservoir dam and probed wreckage of a ruined hospital for bodies today in the wake of an earthquake that dealt death and destruction to Southern California.

Forty deaths were reported, nine of them heart attack victims. More than 1,000 persons were reported injured.

Officials said 15 persons were missing, some buried in the rubble of two collapsed buildings at a Veterans Administration hospital in the hard-hit west end of the populous San Fernando Valley.

25 Bodies

Twenty five bodies had been found in the hospital wreckage — two of them just after dawn today — and 55 rescued.

So heavy and so interlocked were huge chunks of concrete from the virtually leveled three-story structures that rescuers said it might be another day or more before all victims could be reached.

Although cries of "Help me! Help me!" could be heard Tuesday night, authorities said there was little likelihood of more survivors being found. The bodies of five persons were extricated in the night and early morning hours.

The shock at 6:01 a.m. Tuesday was centered 26 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles, crumpled much of the concrete facing on the 150-foot-high dam of Van Norman Reservoir, the city's largest reservoir, and cracked its main structure of earth fill.

As water experts began draining it, police ordered an evacuation Tuesday night of some 80,000 persons in a 20-square-mile area of the San Fernando Valley which would be in the path of flood waters should the dam break. Officials said that barring a strong new aftershock, it should hold.

Aftershocks

The initial shock and lesser aftershocks caused damage likely to be reckoned ultimately in the hundreds of millions. Hundreds of commercial buildings and factories were damaged, along with uncounted homes, highways, bridges and public buildings. Los Angeles County estimated loss to its buildings alone of $125 million, with 427 damaged structurally and 42 evacuated.

Gov. Ronald Reagan surveyed the damage and said, "It's shocking. When you look at this you feel pretty helpless."

Robert E. Noel, a custodian at the threatened reservoir dam, was at his home near the base of the structure when the quake hit.

"It was thumpin' and jumpin' and knocked everything out of our kitchen," he said. "It didn't matter where I put my feet, the floor wasn't there."

Some Survived Under Rubble of Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Giant cranes and bulldozers pushed through the rubble of concrete, bricks, stucco and glass at the Veterans Administration hospital in suburban Sylmar.

Workers using sledge hammers and power saws came upon a patient in bed partly covered by tons of masonry.

"No sense getting him out," yelled a doctor. "Get someone that's alive."

Two three-story Spanish-style buildings at the 400-patient hospital collapsed Tuesday during an earthquake. Three miles away the 850-bed Olive View Hospital, completed last October at a cost of $23.5 million and dedicated last month, was turned into a hill of cement and glass.

Twenty-eight persons were known dead at the centers. About 15 persons were missing, some believed buried in the rubble of two collapsed buildings at the veterans hospital.

About 55 persons have been rescued from the wreckage of the buildings.

Authorities at dawn today said there was little likelihood of more survivors at the veterans hospital. The bodies of seven persons were extricated during night and early morning hours.

Rescuers said they felt air coming from pockets in the rubble nearly 24 hours after the buildings collapsed. They said this gave them hope that some trapped persons could remain alive.

One elderly man was rescued in good condition after being trapped in bed 14 hours. Asked whether he was hurt, the man replied, "Yes, my back hurts. But it's hurt since World War II."

Throughout the night, under the glare of generator-powered floodlights, workers looked for other bodies.

Recovered Bodies

"It's my mother!" screamed Sharon Schropp, 18. "She's in there! She's in there!" Three hours later her mother was saved.

Before ambulances could reach the scene on damaged roads, bodies covered with white sheets were laid out on the green lawn under pine trees.

The Rev. William McHugh, a priest who administered last rites to some of the dead, watched the hundreds of workers looking for the missing. "Once in a while earth-

Shepard, Mitchell, Roosa Aboard Ship

Home Safe After 'Perfect' Mission

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Apollo 14's moon heroes, healthy and snug in a quarantine trailer, dreamed they returned harmful germs aboard this carrier toward Samoa today after safely completing man's third lunar landing mission.

From Samoa they'll be flown to the Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston, arriving early Friday. They'll get a glimpse of their families, then continue their isolation against possible moon germs until Feb. 26.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa parachuted to a precision landing in the South Pacific Tuesday, climaxing a lunar voyage which scientists say will greatly enrich man's knowledge of the moon and space agency officials hail as perfect.

The spacemen hit the gentle tropic waters less than four miles from this helicopter carrier and quickly were hoisted aboard by helicopter. They were just seven-tenths of a mile from the landing target.

Band Played

Hundreds of white-clad sailors cheered and snapped pictures. "Welcome Apollo 14," banners to Houston's Ellington Air Force unfurled and a band played "Stars and Stripes Forever" as day. They will go to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the

NASA Engineers

Also in the trailer at E. H. Culbertson, a NASA engineer who maintains the van systems and helps with cooking and other chores.

After retrieving the astronauts, the New Orleans set sail for Samoa, 600 miles to the north. When the ship is in helicopter range, about noon EST Thursday the spacemen will be flown to Pago Pago, where they'll transfer into a quarantine van aboard an Air Force transport plane.

The aircraft will ferry them to Houston's Ellington Air Force Base, arriving at 1:30 a.m. Fri.

"Stars and Stripes Forever" as day. They will go to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the

Manned Spacecraft Center to complete the 21-day quarantine period that began the day Shepard and Mitchell left the moon.

The lunar rocks they gathered in the ancient Fra Mauro highlands will go into another section of the laboratory, where scientists eagerly wait to start examination that will take months of years.

Primordial Rocks

Scientists believe the moon walkers may have gathered primordial rocks, dating back 4.6 billion years to the creation of the moon.

Scientists hope study of these rocks will unlock many secrets of the birth pangs of the moon, the earth and solar system. All were believed created at the same time in the convulsive coming together of space dust and rocks in a mammoth gas cloud.

Rocks collected in 1959 by the Apollo 11 and 12 crews came from relatively flat and young mare areas and range in age from 3.2 billion to 3.7 billion years. They have revealed some things that happened after the moon was a billion or so years old.

Following the successful splashdown, Shepard, Mitchell and Roosa received the praise of President Nixon and space agency officials.

"We're just so proud and happy to have you all back," the President told them by radio-phones from Washington. He invited them and their wives to dinner at the White House and urged them to bring their families.

Landing Fees Rescinded by County Board

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Registration charges — but not landing fees — will be assessed at the Outagamie County Airport.

The county board, after more than two hours of wrangling, Tuesday voted 40-3 to rescind half of a resolution passed by a wide margin last month.

Debate began shortly after the board imposed landing (tower) fees for transient aircraft and registration fees for aircraft based at the port.

Strong opposition came from aircraft owners, fixed base operators and business leaders. The fees were not levied, pending a plan to resolve the controversy.

The compromise that won board approval Tuesday was suggested by Supv. Robert Weyenberg of Kimberly, a member of the airport committee which itself has been split over the landing fee issue.

The committee submitted a resolution Tuesday asking that the fee imposition be voided and that a detailed study be made into other possible sources of revenue at the airport.

Bogged Down
Weyenberg, after the board became bogged down in parliamentary entanglements that included arguments on whether votes had actually been taken on certain amendments, moved that all parts of the January board action be voided except the portion establishing aircraft registration fees.

Such fees, ranging from $20 to $200, depending on the size of the airplane, are expected to raise about $1,500 a year.

Weyenberg explained that while there had been numerous objections to the landing fees, no one had criticized the registration charges.

Other modifications were suggested from the board floor. None of them won endorsement.

Supv. Kurl Koletzke of Appleton wanted to rescind all fees because "we're not talking about enough revenue to take a chance on driving out airplanes."

One of the most repeated arguments against the fees was that disgruntled airport users would stop landing there. They tied that argument in with the fear that should port traffic drop below 60,000 movements a year, the Federal Aviation Administration would not take over operation of the control tower there. That, opponents said, would mean the county would be liable for the $35,000 a year operation.

Detailed Study
Supv. Kenneth Gibson of Appleton tried to get the entire fee matter referred back to the airport committee for a detailed study on port revenues and a report back to the board on June 1.

Supv. R. Clayton Van Dyke of Kaukauna wanted a resolution stating that in light of an "economic hardship on taxpayers," a moratorium be placed on any further capital improvements at the airport. He would allow only routine maintenance and safety needs "for the duration of the economic downturn."

Supv. Eugene Kloes of Appleton, a frequent critic of the board's handling of airport affairs, wanted the entire resolution to reconsider the January action ruled out of order because "propaganda had been incorporated" into it. He asked for a detailed study to "show what the airport is doing for Supv. John Dietz of Appleton, cited two Kaukauna firms that had indicated they would use the Green Bay airport if landing fees were established at the Outagamie port.

"I'm not impressed with scare tactics that this will drive business away," said Appleton supervisor John Schreiter.

Sex Education Movie May Be Pulled at New London

NEW LONDON — Students' seventh, eighth or ninth grades from the school district may be to come.

The board accepted the bid from Tews Inc. for two cars at $1,918 each. The cars will be used for special teacher's transportation, and will replace 1980 and 1981 vehicles presently in use.

The board was informed that teacher salary negotiations are continuing and that meetings would be held soon.

The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Ronald Steinhorst, effective the end of the school year. Mrs. Steinhorst is a kindergarten teacher at Parkview School.

It was announced that in the future, preceding every board meeting, there will be a public forum from 7 to 8 p.m. At this time topics such as a community swimming pool, the sinking fund, and other school-related topics will be discussed.

At the meeting discussion also centered on the idea of obtaining a special vocational education coordinator on a trial basis for the 1971-72 school year. Administrators, school principals and representatives of the Hortonville, Shiocton, Clintonville and New London schools will meet with representatives of the department of public instruction to discuss the program.

The purpose will be to examine programs that could be instituted by the four schools. The cost to each school district would not exceed 15 per cent of the instructor's salary. The study would be made in conjunction with the proposed plan to utilize the special abilities of each teacher in an expanded vocational arts program for seeing the film "Helga" for the last time when its shown at the Grand Theater March 17 and 18. The board of education was informed at its Tuesday meeting that the movie is getting old and the film company may take it out of circulation this year.

The movie is used in the district's sex education program. It is shown on Wednesday night for boys in grades seven through nine with their fathers and on Thursday night for girls in the same grades with their mothers.

Dr. J. W. Weber introduces the film with an explanation of terminology and answers questions after the film.

Since this may be the last showing, School Superintendent, H. J. Ramsdell urges all parents with students in the tentative schedule the student has planned for next year. The teacher will have a copy of the student's past record, and a list of recommended changes, if any, in the schedule.

Any recommended changes will have come from the department directly related to the course, after the student's schedule and past record has been reviewed.

"If it is felt that the student is not scheduled to his full advantage, suggestions could be made for changes," M. John Huppler, guidance counselor at the senior high, noted.

Also available for the benefit of the advisor, student and parent will be course descriptions and information on various schools, both private and public, colleges, universities, vocational and technical schools. Included will be costs and programs offered as well as prerequisite courses.

At the conclusion of the 20-minute meeting, a jointly established program should be arranged. Huppler pointed out that this type of scheduling should eliminate many of the changed courses. He added that it still would be possible for a student to change courses, but that it probably would be less necessary, since the student and parent will have been better informed at the time of scheduling.

He added that the meetings would also give the parents more opportunity to talk with the teachers. "It is not a report of good or bad behavior, but looking with someone who knows the students, about where they are going," he emphasized.

The guidance office will be working with a few students and parents but also will be available for parents to come in and talk about the courses, and for teacher references. Huppler stated that the response to the program was excellent, with teachers attempting to schedule in the few parents who could not make it at the regular time.

No Classes Monday

There will be no classes for students in grades 9 through 12 on Monday, so that the students and one or both parents can meet with an advisor and work on the scheduling.

While the program is experimental, and some problems may arise, the results should prove beneficial for the parents, student, and teachers.

Students will not have to take courses recommended by the departments, but if they do, they should find their courses better directed to their individual needs. Parents also will find that they have a better understanding of the program their son or daughter is taking, and a better understanding of what each course is about.

AMHERST — Julio Caniza, Amherst High School foreign student from Paraguay, will be the guest speaker when the Amherst Woman's Club holds its Feb. 16 meeting. Mrs. Gerald Yokers will be hostess.

Clintonville Hospital Group

Quorum Reduced to 15

CLINTONVILLE — The quorum of the Clintonville Community Hospital Association was officially reduced from 25 to 15 at a special meeting of the membership this week.

The organization currently lists 39 members. The previous quorum of 25 members was not present at annual membership meetings in 1969 and 1970, at which times directors were elected.

To remedy the incorrect election procedures of the past two years, the quorum was reduced to 15 and new elections were held at the meeting this week. Twenty-five members were present.

The five directors who were elected in 1970 and the five who were elected in 1970 were re-nominated and were officially elected.

Board of Directors
Elected to two-year terms were Eric Desens, Charles Gehrt, Lyle Harrison, William Martens and Burr Tolles. Don Heinisch, Carl Hensel, Reuben Lenovich, Forest Schafer and V. J. Wadleigh were elected to three-year terms. Mrs. Ben Tellock was nominated for both sets of directors but lost to the incumbents.

No changes were made on the board of directors as a result of the voting. Other members of the board are Mrs. L. J. Pinkowsky, Frank Sinkewicz, Edward Wanta, Russell Weller and Lloyd Zaddack.

A resolution to ratify actions of the Board of Directors during 1970 was adopted.

President Heinisch reported that the Behling Memorial home should be started by spring. A committee has been appointed and has been visiting other homes and meeting with an architect.

In addition to Heinisch, other officers are Schafer, vice president; Harrison, treasurer, and Tolles, secretary.

In Calumet County

Ambulance at Kiel, Brillion Operating

CHILTON — Brillion and Kiel ambulance services are and will continue to operate, according to Merlin Weiting of Brillion, who appeared before the county board's committee on protection of persons and property Monday at the courthouse here.

Weiting said that he also spoke for Kiel, whose representatives were not able to attend the meeting Monday.

Weiting said his appearance was to refute an article in an area weekly newspaper on the recent Calumet Memorial Hospital, meeting regarding the ambulance contract renewal.

He quoted this article as saying that the possibility of Kiel and Brillion ambulance service being discontinued was a near reality. If pending legislation requiring 76 hours of specialized training for ambulance attendants were passed, he said the article indicated that these attendants could not comply.

He presently has four attendants going to school in Manitowish once a week taking in-depth training, Weiting told the committee.

He said that he realized this was a municipal problem, not a county one, but that when his clients showed concern that their ambulance service would be discontinued, he became concerned.

"I don't get one penny from the City of Brillion for my service, and I don't have a county radio hookup, which is too costly," Weiting told the group. "But I offer this service to the community."

He explained that his operation charges a flat rate for all transfers and home calls.

Closer Service

When Weiting said he felt a lot of times he should have been called to an accident because he was closer, Michael Kloeppel, committee chairman, explained that he was sure the county traffic police call the closest ambulance. However, he added, patients sometimes request a certain service.

Presently, Brillion and Kiel serve as back-up ambulances when the hospital ambulance is not available.

The contract for hospital ambulance service recently was renewed by town and city officials.

The ambulance is subsidized by the municipalities, and the patients using the service are billed directly.

Clintonville Farm Institute

Agri-Business Council Important

CLINTONVILLE — The state Agri-Business Council, formed in April, 1970, plays an important part in Wisconsin agriculture and industry, persons attending the annual Farm Institute here Tuesday learned.

L. W. Davis, consultant for the Allis Chalmers Co. and executive vice president of the Wisconsin Agri-Business Council, stressed the need for farmers and business to work together for their mutual benefit.

Davis outlined the purposes of the council for the 425 persons attending the institute at the senior high school.

It was formed, he said, to more effectively inform the general public of the role and importance of agriculture and its related industries to all consumers and the total economy of the state.

It also serves to inform the financial community of the need for increasing financial resources for all segments of the Wisconsin agricultural industry; encourages legislation in the best interest of agriculture and its related industries; and supports national and state programs which will maintain and improve the balance of economic and social growth in both rural and urban Wisconsin.

The institute was sponsored by the Clintonville Association of Commerce.

The free noon lunch attracted nearly 500 people, which was served by the Association of Commerce. Organ music was provided during the noon hour by Duane Cismoski and Susan McConley. In the afternoon, Cindy Lee Meske, accompanied by her father Harold H. Meske, sang two selections.

E. A. Hutchinson was chairman of the Farm Institute and acted as master of ceremonies. Many prizes donated by the businessmen were awarded throughout the day.

The top prize of a portable television awarded by the Association of Commerce was won by Gerald Krueger, route 2, Clintonville. A prize of a beauty kit case donated by Wisconsin Gas Company was won by Arthur Laude, route 3, Clintonville. The "Early Bird" cash prize of $5 went to Walter Klomp, route 1, Clintonville.

An illustrated slide talk on "Agriculture and Our Environment" was given by William Wilfert, Geigy Sales representative, to open the women's program. Wilfert pointed out that although agricultural pollution can occur from soil erosion, fertilizers, animal wastes and pesticides, all efforts are being made to control them, and in face of so many other forms of pollution, agriculture represents only a small percentage.

"Land Use Planning and Zoning" was discussed by Joe L. Walker, Waunakee County extension agricultural agent, and his talk was followed by a movie entitled, "What Has Happened To Our Lake Shores?"

Walker told his audience that this idea of land use planning and zoning started many years ago with the first instrument of this kind put together in Oneida County, Wis., in 1923. He said, "Actually, zoning does for communities what housekeeping does for the homemaker. It allows communities, cities and counties to establish rules of good housekeeping, allows people to plan ahead for wise use and development of their resources. Thus, as the housewife keeps the stove in the kitchen, the zoning in the parlor, zoning attempts to keep homes out of the floodplain and industries away from the home, etc."

Mrs. Linda Reinholz, Waunakee County Extension Home economist, closed the women's program with a talk on "Alternatives with Soaps." She pointed out that in the past months, attention has been focused upon laundry detergents and their phosphate content as major factors in the increasing pollution problem; and that in the resulting cloud of confusion, much information has appeared — some of this is inaccurate and much is incomplete. She had posters to illustrate her talk and also had a display of materials available to those interested.

The men's program in the morning consisted of a talk and slides by Prof. Russell Johannes, University of Wisconsin Marshfield Branch Station, on "Livestock Waste Systems"

Hortonville Board Looks at Vocational Study Program

HORTONVILLE — Members of the board of education discussed the possibility of forming a cooperative vocational study program with schools from New London, Clintonville, and Shiocton.

The first step is the hiring of a local vocational educational coordinator to determine the needs and to perform an extensive survey of the districts involved as a single area.

It was also agreed to seek bids for a new bus with fall set for delivery. An option on the bid will be taken, which allows a 66 passenger bus to have seating for 72 passengers. The change is made by making the

Chilton Board Proposes Talks With Electorate

'Open Line' Would Allow Discussion Of School Matters

CHILTON — Board of education members authorized the organization of an "open line" or "discussion period" on school matters when they met Monday evening.

Board director Al Larson, said he thought that by having a night set aside for the electorate to stop in at the school with any questions on school problems would create a better liaison between the electorate and the school. Larson noted that it would be an informal type of discussion with one or two board members present.

Larson was given an option by the board to either set up discussion group at school or to have people call to the school at a given time. Target date for the program has not been set, although meetings on the fourth Monday of each month were suggested.

Also approved was the rental of classrooms in the St. Mary Catholic School for the coming year. Cost of rental is $3,600 for three rooms. St. Augustine rental will be $2,950 for three rooms, up $400 over last year. The public school will assume responsibility of snow removal on the playground and walk to school. Both contracts for rental are subject to state Industrial Commission inspection.

A W. Gordon, superintendent, reported that state aid this year will be $271,550 which is $8,000 less than expected. This represents a 25.6 per cent of the net operating cost which states aids are based on.

Gordon noted that the utility tax returned to the school is somewhat higher this year and with no extra expenses in operation costs the school could get by.

Gordon also reported that there is a balance in the building fund of $101,091 of which $24,166 is invested in savings account time certificates and $76,924 is invested in treasury bills and notes.

Executive session was called to meet with the Chilton Education Association (CEA) negotiations committee at which time they presented their salary schedule proposals.

During the year, the Kimberly Credit Union assisted in the liquidation of Liebman Packing Credit Union due to its closing business. With the permission of the State Banking Commission, bylaws were changed to permit Mt. Hope Machinery Company to become part of its membership.

Change Probable for State's 32nd Brigade

Wisconsin's 32nd Brigade National Guard — which has several Fox Valley area companies — probably will be converted from an infantry to a mechanized infantry brigade soon as part of a national movement to have ready reserve units trained in all types of active Army operations.

Major Gen. James Lison, the state adjutant general, said Monday that chances are "pretty good" that Wisconsin's 32nd and the 81st Infantry Brigade of Washington would be converted. He said he expected word "within three weeks."

Lison said that this is in line with Defense Secretary Melvin Laird's announcement last August that reserve units would be brought to a greater readiness and that certain units might be converted to complement similar active Army units.

"We have some indication that the 32nd will be converted but it hasn't been definitely announced," he said.

Reformatory Sentence Handed Down to Gary Dorschner, 21

Gary Dorschner, 21, stood before Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer in County Court Branch 2.

Dorschner, formerly of 817 W. Packard St., was convicted of seven original burglary counts on Jan. 14. County investigators said Dorschner broke into seven establishments in Appleton, Kaukauna and the Town of Grand Chute between March 9 and 15, 1969, in connection with the original charges.

Keith Rondou, 22, 318 S. Benoit St., who authorities charged was along with Dorschner on the seven crimes, pleaded guilty earlier this month in Winnebago County when the charges were consolidated there.

County investigators said the pair got at least $375 in cash from the assorted businesses. Various pieces of electronic equipment also were missing.

Six charges from Winnebago and Calumet counties were entered into the record against Dorschner Tuesday. Authorities said five burglaries and a theft were committed by him between June 20, 1968, and March 15, 1969. The additional felony count of criminal damage to property also was lodged Tuesday from Outagamie County.

Investigators said the offense occurred Oct. 24, 1968, when Dorschner damaged two tractors belonging to a Grand Chute man.

Board Readily Authorizes County Court System Study

Without discussion and by a 36-2 vote, the Outagamie County Board Tuesday authorized a study of the county court system by the Institute for Judicial Administration.

Supv. John R. Schreiter of Appleton, a prime mover for the review, said today he hoped it could be started in at least two months.

The resolution seeking the study was submitted by the courts and justice committee of which Schreiter is a member. It is aimed at determining if there actually is need for a fourth county court branch as was recommended in December by a special state legislative committee.

Voting against the study were supervisors G. Allen Bubolz and George Driessen, both of Appleton. Nine supervisors were absent during the balloting.

The Senate judiciary committee is hearing testimony this afternoon in Madison on proposals for additional courts in Eau Claire, Outagamie, Dane, Waushara, Rock and Racine counties. Schreiter said he hoped to have the county represented at the hearings.

He has estimated the additional court branch would cost taxpayers $60,000. Included in that cost would be court space and salaries for a judge, his court reporter and the additional manpower that would be needed in the clerk of courts and district attorneys' offices.

The county committee, in its resolution, suggested that a backlog of cases, which has been cited by proponents of another court, might be the

He will also discuss the details of forming a sanitary district and the importance of an Assembly Bill which, if passed, would make it possible for the Grand Army Home to furnish sewage treatment for residents in the area close to the home.

Senate Okays Daily Expense Increase

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A proposal to increase legislators' daily expense allowances from $15 to $20 a day was approved by the Senate Tuesday on a vote of 16 to 13, and forwarded to the Assembly for action.

Menominee Trust Extended

State Gives Reluctant Approval to Continue Transfer Conditions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The director of the State Department of Securities has announced his reluctant approval of an extension of restrictions on the transfer of trust certificates held by the owners of the Menominee Common Stock and Voting Trust, consisting of the shareholders in Menominee Enterprises Inc.

Thomas Nelson said in a department bulletin that the approval of his office is required under the terms of the trust before amendments may become effective, and that he acted because of "unique circumstances involved."

"Our office continues to view with disfavor any restrictions on the transfer of publicly held securities and generally does not believe that deviations from this public policy are justified simply because the security holders involved happen to be of a particular race or nationality."

The reference was to the fact that the holders are Menominee Indians who acquired their securities at the time of federal termination of the Menominee reservation a decade ago.

The unique circumstances, Nelson said, included these:

- The amendment extending the restrictions had been approved by the holders of a majority of the trust certificates.
- The extension was favored by all interested parties, including representatives of a group in opposition to the corporate management.
- Legislation had been adopted by the state specifically authorizing the extension of the restrictions on transfer under the voting trust.

Nelson emphasized that the extension of the restrictions — for a period of three years ending Jan. 1, 1974 — is not related to the issue of whether the voting trust itself should be terminated, which recently has been in litigation.

The bill that has been revised several times was introduced by the joint finance committee after the board on government operations last December rejected a proposed increase in legislator salaries for the present session.

Provisions for paying mileage expenses for Dane County legislators and to permit legislators to claim actual expenses while in residence for legislative business were deleted on the Senate floor.

Authorization for legislators living more than 250 miles from Madison to use public transportation for one weekly trip to the capital was expanded to cover all legislators by an amendment approved by the senate.

Led Attack
Sen. Nile Soik, R-Whitefish Bay led the attack on the Dane County mileage payments. He said that thousands of state employees commuted daily to Madison offices and are not legislators argued that the proposed for the trip. Further, he said, the provision permits Dane County residents legislators to collect daily mileage expenses while other legislators are permitted only one round trip per week on expense accounts. The provisions, he said, would be very expensive and a wrongful expense to impose on the taxpayers.

Option Eliminated
Sen. Jack Steinhilber, R-Oshkosh, told the Senate that neither the state nor federal income tax laws permit deduction of daily commuting expenses, but they do permit deduction of expenses for long trips involving overnight stays.

The expense payment provision should be compatible with those interpretations, he indicated.

The amendment to delete mileage for legislators living near the capital passed by a nearly unanimous voice vote. The elimination of the option for legislators to file vouchers and receive reimbursement for actual room and board expenses in Madison came after several

Madison offices and are not legislators argued that the proposed for the trip. Further, he said, the provision permits Dane County residents legislators to collect daily mileage expenses while other legislators are permitted only one round trip per week on expense accounts. The provisions, he said, would be very expensive and a wrongful expense to impose on the taxpayers.

Sen. James Swan R-Elkhorn, who introduced the amendment to eliminate the actual expense option, said legislators should set the precedent for economizing by contributing some of their own funds to make up the difference between actual and budgeted expenses.

From the close vote, it was apparent other Senators favored retaining the $15 allowance as a better indication of legislators' willingness to hold the line on spending.

Avoid Powell Scandal

Legislative Ethics Law Urged

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin legislators have been urged by a colleague to move quickly to insure they won't some day be jolted by probes similar to one being conducted concerning the late Secretary of State Paul Powell of Illinois.

Rep. Anthony Earl, D-Wausau, told the Assembly's Judiciary Committee Tuesday his legislative ethics bill "provides nothing that any of us need fear."

No Scandal Needed
"But I would hope," he said, "that Wisconsin wouldn't require a scandal of the proportions of Paul Powell in Illinois," to get ethics legislation adopted.

Shortly after Powell's death last fall, a shoe box containing about $890,000 was found in his Springfield hotel room. Authorities are investigating the source of the funds left by Powell, long-time power in the Illinois legislature before his election as secretary of state in 1964.

Rep. Herbert Grover of Shawano, assistant Democratic majority leader, agreed with Earl that the tough law is necessary to promote public confidence in legislators. "Back home," Grover said,

"a man will stop me on the street and say: 'Hey, Grover, how are things going in Madison?'"

"I'll say: 'Pretty good.' And he'll say: 'Can I have your extra shoe boxes?'"

Earl's bill is similar to one which died in the 1969 legislature. It would prohibit a lawmaker from receiving compensation from private sources for his duties as a public official.

No Payments
It also would bar him from receiving anything of value for his vote, or receiving any gift valued at more than $5 under circumstances in which it could "reasonably be inferred that the gift was made to influence him in the performance of his official duties."

The bill would create a joint legislative committee of three senators and three representatives which would receive complaints against legislators, make investigations and submit recommendations.

Earl said the bill strikes out against actions that are "already morally unacceptable."

"This bill would make them illegal as well as immoral," Earl said, adding that "exposure is the best antidote for misbehavior."

Rep. Harout Sanasarian, D-Milwaukee, called the measure a "modest attempt to contribute to a better public confidence in the legislature."

Montgomery Ward, Spiegel Accused of Credit Deception

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission today accused two of the nation's largest mail order firms, Montgomery Ward & Co., Inc., and Spiegel, Inc., of deceiving customers on credit terms.

In a proposed complaint, the FTC said the two Chicago-based firms had failed to make disclosures required by the federal Truth-in-Lending Act and had misled customers in advertisements of credit conditions.

Montgomery Ward, which operates stores and a mail order business, was sixth among retailing companies in the nation with 1969 sales of $2.7 billion. It is a wholly owned subsidiary of Marcor, Inc., of Chicago, also named in the proposed complaint.

Mail Basis

Spiegel, which operates only on a mail order basis, had sales of $320 million in 1969.

The FTC's proposed complaint contends Montgomery Ward catalogues failed to disclose how the balance is computed for figuring finance charges, failed to tell customers who take out special mortgages to finance home improvements that they have three days to cancel the transaction, and failed to disclose credit terms on required minimum payments for catalogue items.

The complaint alleges also Montgomery Ward's advertised claim that no monthly payments would be required on an item until a certain date misled customers into believing finance charges would not be imposed until the first installment came due. Actually, the FTC said, finance charges are imposed monthly after the first 30 days.

Life Insurance

The complaint against Spiegel charges the firm sold credit life insurance to new customers without obtaining the required permission of the customer.

Belfast Silent for First Night in Week

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Belfast was free of bombing and gunfire Tuesday night for the first night in a week as Northern Ireland's embattled government considered whether to prohibit potentially inflammatory funeral processions.

Fighting broke out during the day Tuesday as the coffins of two fallen Roman Catholics were drawn through Protestant districts, the Irish Republic tricolor covering them and Irish Republican Army members in black berets in escort.

Angry Protestants snatched the flag from one coffin and hurled bricks and bottles at the other one. A policeman was clubbed to the ground before other security forces could intervene.

3 Missing in Plant Blast In Newark

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — An explosion which shook a 27-block area and shattered windows for miles around ripped through a chemical plant early today. Three persons were missing. Four others sustained minor injuries.

Among the three missing was Walter Gilewicz of Irvington, N.J., owner of the Radon Chemical Corp., where the blast occurred.

The company foreman said Gilewicz and two employees, Mark Marciak and Gene Sowul, both of Jersey City, were believed to have been in the plant at the time of the blast.

Police said the cause of the explosion had not been determined.

The plant's two brick buildings were destroyed. The firm manufactures chemicals used in making penicillin.

Four persons from homes adjacent to the chemical company were taken to St. James Hospital for treatment and were released. They suffered shock and cuts.

"A ball of fire shot up in the sky. There was a thunderous roar and then a series of following blasts from drums going off. Everybody in the neighborhood seemed to have the same idea, they all thought it was an earthquake somehow related to the one in Los Angeles," said Patrolman Joseph Fenton, one of the first officers at the scene.

There was minor looting in nearby stores where windows were shattered. A one-block square area was littered with glass.

Residents of nearby homes were evacuated.

Hurley Gets State Funds to Help Remove Snow

HURLEY, Wis. (AP) — The state is expanding its emergency assistance to Iron County to help clear snow from highways.

The county is the bull's eye of northern Wisconsin's winter storm belt, and pleaded for state aid because of a 200-inch snow accumulation that has taken a big toll of maintenance equipment.

The State Highway Division said Tuesday about $8,000 is being set aside for removal of snow on shoulders of main highways, with county plow crews doing the work under state auspices.

Meanwhile, special legislation was being drawn up to authorize $8,000 for removal of snow from Hurley streets.

Few Ask to be Taken Off Lists for Sex-Oriented Mail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans who claim their sensitivities are offended by sexually oriented mail have been slow in registering their feelings with the Post Office.

The Postal Service says only about 6,000 persons have asked to have their names removed from smut peddler's mailing lists since a new federal law promising blanket protection went into effect Feb. 1.

Of that number, about 15 per cent incorrectly filled in anti-smut forms available from the nation's 32,000 post offices, postal officials said.

The new law, contained in the Postal Reorganization Act passed by Congress last year, requires senders of sexually oriented ads to remove all persons from their mailing lists who sign up with the Postal Service.

It defines a sexually oriented ad as one "that depicts, in actual or simulated form, or explicitly describes in a predominantly sexual context, human genitalia, any act of natural or unnatural sexual intercourse, any act of sadism or masochism, or any other erotic subject directly related to the foregoing."

Application forms filled out at local post offices are sent to postal headquarters in Washington for inclusion on a master list which will be made available to mailers of sexually oriented ads at a cost of $5,000 to $10,000.

The mailer then must compare the Postal Service list to his own mailing list and remove names that appear on both. As more people sign up, the Postal Service will send out an updated list to mailers.

Failure to remove a name could result in criminal penalties of up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine for the first offense. In addition, the Postal Service could seek a civil court order barring further mailings to the person whose name is on the master list.

Blasts at McCoy Last Year Eyed By Grand Jury

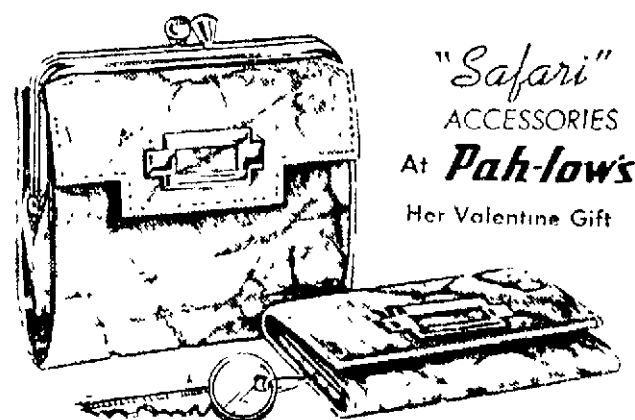

MADISON (AP) — Bombings last year at Camp McCoy are being studied by a U.S. District Court grand jury, U.S. Atty. John O. Olson said Tuesday.

He did not elaborate on the nature of the investigation, except to note that the grand jury had looked into the matter in December.

Three explosions at the training base July 26 knocked out electric power for about an hour, damaged a telephone switchboard exchange and caused minor damage at a reservoir.

There were no injuries. Two switchboard operators, having been alerted by an anonymous call, fled from the exchange a moment before the blast of explosives which had been planted under the building.

Ripon College Theatre To Give Wilde Comedy

Ripon College Theatre will present Oscar Wilde's famous comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest," Thursday through Sunday, Feb. 11, 12, 13 and 14. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. at the campus theater on Ransom Street, Ripon.

Dr. Philip Clarkson, professor of drama and chairman of the department, is director of the production. Lester Schwartz, associate professor of art, designed the set.

"The Play is light comedy, reliant primarily on wit and manners," said Clarkson. "It makes fun of the people of that time and of our time."

Valley Campus Library Addition To Open Soon

MENASHA — The addition to the library at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, Fox Valley Campus will be opened in about two weeks, Oliver Thomsen, Neenah, chairman of the campus trustees, said Tuesday.

The trustees agreed Monday that the addition, costing $40,000 and doubling library space at the two-year affiliate of UWGB, will be formally dedicated in April. The addition was paid for by Winnebago and Outagamie counties.

Thomsen said that the trustees were pleased that the contractor completed the facility in the bad weather and with materials purchasing delays. It was started last November.

The addition will provide for use of teaching aids, such as audio-visuals, he said.

To Your Good Health Pain in Overworked Heart Can be Helped

BY C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a cure for angina pectoris?—A.B.

This has to have a yes-and-no answer.

Angina pectoris, or chest pain, is a common consequence when the heart is somewhat below par and more demands are made on the heart that it comfortably can meet.

In protest, muscle tissue of the heart goes into spasm. That is, it has cramps. These cause

Depends on whether you mean in a baby or in an adult.

It's a rather common condition in very young children, but in such cases taping the belly-button area down flat usually lets the tissues strengthen and that's the end of it.

If it occurs in an adult (or is a carry-over from babyhood) that's a different matter. If the hernia is large enough to be troublesome, surgery is the only way to correct it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If you are menstruating, does that necessarily mean you can have children? Does every female have periods? Do periods stop if you have a hysterectomy?—L.B.

No. having periods does not necessarily mean you can have children. There are many things, closed Fallopian tubes among them, than can prevent pregnancy.

Every female of suitable age, with a normally functioning glandular system has periods. Hysterectomy puts an end to periods because the uterus (and sometimes other organs) has been removed.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for, send for Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You And Your Gall Bladder." Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Post-Crescent for a Medicinally, a nitroglycerin tablet placed under the tongue gives the heart a temporary lift, thus halting the pain. Or, if you know that you are going to exceed your heart's capacity, it is often practicable to take a tablet before hand, and thus ward off the pain.

Finally, your doctor also can prescribe medications that work much the way the nitroglycerin does but more gradually and over a longer time span. Another factor found beneficial is a very gradual exercise program.

Astronaut Cooper Visits Eddie

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7 Channels 11-9 — The Courtship of Eddie's Father examines the right of privacy of individuals, even famous ones like astronaut Gordon Cooper. Seems Gordon, one of the original seven, gets a letter from Eddie, inviting him to lunch to discuss "space and things" and he accepts. Eddie has lots of decisions to make here, as he's offered a lot of money for a TV documentary.

6:30-8 Channel 5 — The Men From Shiloh has a combination mystery romance. The mystery is who killed a rancher, dead when the story starts and the romance is between the Virginian (James Drury) and the widow (Dina Merrill). There's a good friend, next-door neighbor (Van Johnson) and his crippled wife (Ruth Roman), an unfriendly neighboring rancher (Stephen McNally) and a hired man (Chill Will). Was the rancher killed? If so, who did it? And what about the unhappy young son of the dead man, who goes around carrying a rifle threatening — what?

7:30-8 Channels 2-7 — There's another stray brought home on To Rome With Love, in a tale that smacks a bit of Pygmalion. The stray is a sad, penniless young woman from Minnesota who, it turns out, is an exotic dancer. Anyway, just like Liza Doolittle, she winds up going to a "ball" (well a school dance) and charms everyone in her formerly gaudy dress, fixed-up and played-down with Alison's help.

10:30-11:30 Channel 2 — Jack Carter plays a man who once aspired to be a comic, but is now happy just entertaining the patients in Medical Center. He becomes involved with Joan Van Ark, who attempted suicide but who insists she fell — not stepped — out that window. Carter is very good, particularly as his role turns dramatic when an illness forces a personality change.

8-9 Channels 11-9 — If you like terribly sophisticated humor The Johnny Cash Show is not for you, but we'll still bet it would be hard to watch Comedy. Country Style and not crack a smile or two. Among those trying, in songs, skits and blackouts, are Cash, June Carter, Jim Nabors, George Lindsay, Minnie Pearl, Junior Samples, Homer and Jethro, Ferlin Husky, Archie Campbell, Stringbean and the Dillards.

9-10 Channel 5 — Four-in-One: The Psychiatrist has a story of a strange young boy who lives in a world of fantasy and steals and is a bad influence on his sister. So he's treated by Roy Thinnes and you'll be able to guess why he's behaving as he does very early in the script.

Arts. Tickets will be sold at the door. The Ensemble and Bassette appear under auspices of St. Norbert college activities board.

TV MOVIES

3:30 p.m.

5—"Town Tamer" (1965) — After his wife is killed by a

7:30 p.m.

34—"The Harlem Globe" 8 p.m.

2—"The Journey" (1959) — A gripping tale of a band of refugees fleeing Communist prosecution for their participation in the 1956 Hungarian revolution. Deborah Kerr, Yul Brynner, Jason Robards Jr., E. G. Marshall, Robert Morley.

34 — "Guadacanal Diary" (1943) — The story of the first

Mills May Upset Nixon On Revenue Sharing

House Ways and Means Chairman Would Have U.S. Take Over, Welfare Programs

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Behind the cover of public sparring over revenue sharing between Rep.
Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas and

Evans      Novak

President Nixon, the wizard of the Ways and Means Committee is pondering a legislative package that could demolish White House grand strategy.

Mills is now working in the backstage manner of Capitol Hill's great legislative craftsmen: seeking expert counsel, making no commitments, considering all ideas. If the pieces don't fit together, Mills' presently vague outlines will never surface. If they do, Mr. Nixon may well be preempted on the national welfare crisis and financial insolvency of the states — vital components in his reform program and his 1972 campaign.

For two weeks, Mills has been hinting that his House Ways and Means Committee might, as a substitute for Mr. Nixon's revenue sharing, have the federal government take over most or all of the grotesquely expanding welfare programs. What is not well-known is that Mills now contemplates combining this takeover with a top-to-bottom overhaul of welfare programs going far beyond the President's proposals — an audacious initiative whose full political significance is only dimly realized in the White House today.

Misread Mills

Thus, the Nixon White House has misread Wilbur Mills twice in rapid succession. First, it incorrectly assumed Mills could be pressured into support of revenue sharing. Second, when Mills proclaimed his unqualified opposition to revenue sharing, the White House incorrectly assumed that he and Democrats would be sitting targets as obstructionists blocking reform.

Instead, Mills is seeking an alternative, seizing the initiative from the White House. The vehicle is none other than the first bill in Mr. Nixon's reform program: his welfare, including family assistance payments, which passed the house last year under Mills sponsorship but died in the senate.

In the new congress, the White House has been counting on Mills' rushing this welfare reform, tied to a universally popular Social Security increase, through the house before spring. In this, Mr. Nixon may be bitterly disappointed.
With Mills now considering the use of welfare reform as his vehicle for a revenue sharing substitute, there will be pressure — perhaps irresistible pressure — to disconnect the Social Security increase and pass it immediately. Without the Social Security sweetener, welfare reform would have hard going in the House.

Take Over Welfare

The alternative sweetener contemplated by Mills is a gradual federal takeover of increasingly burdensome welfare programs (where the state-local share of $7.5 billion in the current fiscal year climbs to $9.7 billion next year and ever upward in future years).

But Mills would not countenance a federal takeover, in whole or part, of the sloppy congeries of state welfare programs that have so outraged middle-class America. Rather, taking over the financing and administering of welfare would require a top-to-bottom overhaul with stringent tightening up of eligibility requirements.

Such a program would eman-cipate New York, California, and other big states doomed to perpetual fiscal calamity because of rising welfare burdens.
But, contrary to White House contentions, its appeal is not limited to big Northern states.
Rather, many Southern Democrats view it as a politically palatable alternative to Nixon revenue sharing.

Actually, a federal takeover of welfare does not answer an original Mills objection to revenue sharing: the federal government still would be siphoning money to the states when it is deeply in the red. But the Mills alternative would have great appeal for congressmen by not also siphoning off power and prestige to the states as Mr.
Nixon contemplates under revenue sharing.

Mexican-American Named Assistant Director of OEO

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has named Phillip
V. Sanchez, 41-year-old administrator of Fresno County, Calif., to be assistant director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Sanchez would become the highest ranking official of Mexican-American descent in the Nixon administration if confirmed by the Senate. Before he resigned recently, Hillary Sandoval held that distinction as head of the Small Business Administration.

Sanchez will head the OEO's operations office, which has been vacant since November when Nixon elevated Frank Carlucci to the job of OEO director.

In the $38,000-a-year job, Sanchez will be in charge of community action operations, state and local government liaison, Indian and migrant programs and training and technical assistance.

Revenue sharing: the federal government still would be siphoning
money to the states when it is deeply in the red. But the Mills
alternative would have great appeal for congressmen by not also siphoning off power and prestige to the states as Mr.
Nixon contemplates under revenue sharing.

Apart from New York City,
Los Angeles, and other large cities with heavy welfare costs local government would not be pleased with this arrangement and would keep pressing for revenue sharing. But, almost surely, pressure from the states for general revenue sharing would subside. Revenue sharing hearings promised by Mills for early spring would become a charade.

The choices faced by Mr.
Nixon would be excruciating.
Could he oppose a Democratic bill containing his cherished family assistance payments and substantial financial relief to the states? And, if the bill passed, could Mr. Nixon really veto it? Thus does the political significance of all this become clear. Whereas the White House has been gloating that it had presented a political dilemma to the Democratic congress, the tables will be turned if Chairman Mills has his way.

Not a chance! New Trail Call is the one and only dry dog food sold in this area with real meat in every bite. Plus plenty of nutrients to help keep your little friend healthy and strong. Of course, Trail Call gives you all the benefits of ordinary dry food. It can be fed dry or moist. And there's no mixing, refrigerating or can opening. But that's where the similarity ends. Trail Call's a new breed! Comes in the shape of tasty little ribbons that look kind of like puffed meat. The ribbons absorb liquid faster than old fashion chunk style and send out a real meat aroma in the process. Lots of real meat taste, too. No question about it, New Trail Call is the finest dog food you can buy. Yet, it costs less and gives your dog more each feeding. What more can we say?
